A. F. L. BREAKS WITH LEWIS LEADERS IN GEORGIA, DEMANDING RENUNCIATION OF CIO ORGANIZATION

Systematic Raids To Supersede Wild Police Chases

OFFICERS ORDERED TO STOP PRACTICE OF CHASING CARS

Campaign Against 'Big Shots' in Liquor and Lottery Rackets Is Ordered in Effort To Stamp Out Activity in Atlanta.

BOYKIN PLEASED BY NEW METHODS

Chief Mathieson Asks Co-operation of Public in Location of Illegally Licensed Automobiles.

Systematic raids on liquor and lottery headquarters were ordered last night by County Chief George Mathieson in an effort to apprehend directors of these Atlanta rackets.

Earlier in the day the chief had ordered county policemen to cease chasing fleeing misdemeanor offenders in the city limits, a practice which frequently endangers the lives of innocent persons.

As a first step in the new campaign, Mathieson requested filling station operators, garage men and citizens generally to aid the law enforcers by reporting persons who operate automobiles illegally licensed, or whose tags are bent or marred.

Solicitor John A. Boykin endorsed this move, declaring operators of illegally licensed cars or cars whose tags are bent or improperly licensed are among the most vicious persons with whom law enforcers must deal.

"If cars were licensed correctly there would be no need of chasing officers could apprehend offenders easily," Boykin said, after pointing to numerous instances where hit-and-run cars had been traced to non-existent owners.

After "Big Shots" Under the Mathieson order last night, the entire county police force will be charged with locating and destroying liquor and lottery stores.

"Big shots" will be arrested in this campaign where, in the cases, it was usually only the "little fellows" who were caught, the chief asserted.

Formerly only those men assigned to work with the solicitor's office actively engaged in locating and destroying headquarters of these rackets.

The following order was issued in regard to wild police chases: "All officers and men in the county police department are ordered to exercise every possible precaution to avoid injury to any citizen and not to chase cars inside the city limits where to do so will violate any law, regulation or ordinance."

"You are directed, whenever possible, to make a case against any person who, in escaping arrest, violates any laws or ordinances regulating the use of automobiles. You are also particularly cautioned to make a case against any person who has falsified his automobile tag, or has substituted tags. This order applies to misdemeanor cases, but would not restrict you in your right to pursue persons who have committed felonies."

Boykin's Solution. After reading the chief's order, Boykin said, "I feel assured this will solve the situation and satisfy everyone."

Chairman J. A. Ragdale, of the county commission, said the order will not affect the conference on the problem of apprehending liquor and lottery cars scheduled for 11 o'clock Wednesday.

Invited to this conference are county commissioners, Chief Mathieson.

Motorcycle "Ride" Thrills Lost Youngster

Thanks to Motorcycle Patrolman Douglas Poole, being lost was lots of fun for two-and-a-half-year-old Marvin London, who had a grand time at headquarters, playing "policeman." His worried mother claimed him after he had been lost several hours.

NEW U. S. BUILDING SOUGHT FOR CITY

George, Russell and Ram-speak Support Plan for Huge $3,000,000 Project.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, April 1.—With a view of providing much needed accommodations for growing federal agencies now centralized in the state, Senator Walter F. George, and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. today joined with Representative Robert Ram-speak, of Georgia, in agreeing to sponsor a bill authorizing $3,000,000 for the construction of a new federal building in Atlanta for the enlargement of present government office facilities in the city.

The agreement to sponsor such a bill was reached after a conference with Jesse Draper, well-known real estate figure of Atlanta, who pointed out that the government is now renting upwards of 200,000 square feet of office building space in the city to house existing agencies.

Construction of a new federal building is not only needed to accommodate the growing needs of the government, it was emphasized, but would serve to anchor in Georgia the number of regional federal agencies now having headquarters in Atlanta.

While consideration of a site will necessarily be deferred until the bill is acted upon, suggestions have been made that the site of the old city hall, near the old post office, would make an excellent location for the proposed new structure.

The two Georgia senators promised to collaborate with Representative Boykin in this solution.

After reading the chief's order, Boykin said, "I feel assured this will solve the situation and satisfy everyone."

Chairman J. A. Ragdale, of the county commission, said the order will not affect the conference on the problem of apprehending liquor and lottery cars scheduled for 11 o'clock Wednesday.

Royal Treatment Accorded Youth Found by Police

Being lost was an enjoyable experience last night for 2 1/2-year-old Marvin London. The boy, who lives at 489 Techwood drive, was picked up yesterday afternoon at Hunnicutt and Spring streets by Radio Patrolmen Kirk Wooster and Fred Battle. The lad explained he was "just watching the cars go by."

Taken to police headquarters he had the time of his young life, as his smile and vivacity won the hearts of scores of officers. They bought him candy, let him sit on police motorcycles, played games with him.

Finally, his worried mother, Mrs. Walter London, learned he whereabouts and took him home. But Marvin left a bit reluctantly.

LOYALISTS SHOWER SHELLS ON CEUTA, BIG FASCIST BASE

Surprise Attack Marks First Time Since War Began That Reds Have Dared to Strike at Important Morocco City.

UPRISING REPORTS DENIED BY FRANCO

Generalissimo Blames French and British Agitators for Stories, Calls Another Class to Arms.

GIBRALTAR, April 1.—(UP)—Spain's Loyalist navy and air force carried the civil war across the Straits of Gibraltar and into north Africa today when they united in a violent bombardment of Ceuta, Rebel base at the tip of Spanish Morocco.

The surprise attack marked the first time that the government high command has dared to strike at heavily fortified Ceuta, port of embarkation and concentration for thousands of General Francisco Franco's Moroccan and foreign volunteers and most of his equipment of war.

The bombardment—17 miles across the straits—continued for several hours and was heard clearly here.

Military experts said the Loyalists, striking with new vigor in the wake of their recent victories on the Spanish fronts, apparently were taking advantage of reported armed rebellion among the insurgent troops in Morocco.

Tons of Explosives. The "pride" of the Loyalist navy, the battleship Jaime Primo, aided in the shelling from the sea while a fleet of planes dumped tons of explosives on the town.

The wharf, loaded with ammunition and war materials awaiting transport to the Rebel bases at Algiers, Cadiz and Malaga, was the main objective of the bombardment.

Anti-aircraft batteries attempted to drive off the raiders but were reported to have been silenced. Dense clouds of smoke indicated direct hits either by the airplanes or warships.

Franco tonight blamed French and British agitators for the stories.

Battery of Telephones Carries Votes of Amateurs

Here are some of the 120 telephone operators who took your vote for amateurs last night when Major Edward Bowes saluted Atlanta with the Columbia Broadcasting System and station WGST. The picture above shows less than one-third of the vast one-night organization which was set up to record votes of Atlantans and relay them to the Columbia Playhouse in New York City, where three Atlanta artists appeared on the major's program and drew thousands of votes.

GENERAL MOTORS STRIKES SPREAD

30,000 Idle, Sending Total of Automobile Workers Affected to 120,000.

DETROIT, April 1.—(AP)—A walk-out of union employees suspended operations in all units of the Chevrolet Motor Company at Flint, Mich., tonight, adding nearly 12,000 more to the number of automobile workers already idle in Michigan.

The strike was reported to have been called in support of one earlier today which halted the Chevrolet final assembly line and parts and service divisions at Flint, Mich., center of the widespread General Motors strike in January.

120,000 Now Idle. The Chevrolet tieups, combined with others in General Motors divisions at Pontiac, Mich., those in Chrysler Corporation plants at Detroit and some smaller automotive strikes, sent the total number of automobile workers idle in the state to 120,000.

Only a few hours before the big Chevrolet division at Flint was closed, arrangements had been made for a conference tomorrow between General Motors' operating head and the president of the United Automobile Workers of America.

The new strike made it doubtful whether other Chevrolet employees who were thrown out of work today would return to their benches tomorrow, as had been scheduled.

The starker stoppage of the assembly line and the parts and service divisions halted the Fisher Body Plant No. 2, which supplies Chevrolet with bodies.

Almost 30,000 General Motors wage-earners were out of work at Flint and Pontiac either directly or indirectly due to strikes.

All of the workers left the Flint plants, instead of sitting down and remaining on the premises as they did during the strike which paralyzed General Motors early this year.

The 120,000 auto workers idle in Michigan was the largest since the previous General Motors strike in January and February.

Union officers conferred with General Motors executives and arranged for a conference tomorrow between William S. Knudson, General Motors

Rumanian Patriots Expel U. S. Writers

BUCHAREST, April 1.—(UP)—Several veteran foreign journalists, including Americans, were expelled from Rumania tonight after demands by Rumanian Nazis that the correspondents be replaced by "Rumanian patriots."

The Nazis demanded that Premier George Tataru obtain for the "patriots" jobs of all kinds, including journalistic correspondence.

Most of the foreign correspondents in Bucharest have been Jews, Hungarians and Germans.

MANY VOTES CAST ON BOWES' HOUR

'Plenty' Recorded Here as Major Salutes City Over Radio Network.

How many votes did Atlantans cast last night for amateurs appearing in Major Bowes' salute to Atlanta?

"Plenty," said Arthur M. Brilliant, the major's representative who made arrangements for the voting and other details.

But the exact number of votes or who was leading when the voting closed a half-hour after the program is the major's own secret and Brilliant was not allowed to divulge it here, although he made a telephone call to New York to seek permission at the request of a Constitution reporter.

But "plenty" votes were cast here, just as the major's representative predicted.

"We knew the voting would be heavy," declared Mr. Brilliant. "That is why we used 120 operators here this year instead of the 75 used in 1935 when Major Bowes first saluted Atlanta. And that is why we used 120 operators here instead of the 80 we used recently in Chicago and a lesser number which have been used in cities larger than Atlanta."

"Atlantans like to express their appreciation for good work by artists and the large total of votes we got here was expected all along."

The room on the second floor of the telephone building at 25 Auburn avenue was a beehive of highly organized activity last night. Besides the 120 operators who took down the votes for Atlantans, the staff included 25

Cain Promises To Furnish Answer To Each Query About His Travels

Arthur Cain, who returned Tuesday from a two-year hitchhiking tour of the world, is writing a series of stories, recounting some of the startling experiences of his journeys which could not be told in the letters he wrote while still away from home. The second of the series is presented today.

By ARTHUR CAIN. The top of the morn to you, comrades, the top of the morn indeed. Let me wish you a very merrie Friday.

Wading through my fan mail (imagine!) I find many letters of interest, lots of nice compliments and invitations and a flattering poem from a lass of 12 named Dot. Also very touching are the thoughtful expressions concerning Homer, my intrepid cat. Now Homer himself, being an animal of considerable character and dramatic acumen, deserves an entire story for himself, but for the sake of information I must confess that we had to part company in the city of Moscow. As Intourist, the Soviet travel bureau, had begun to doubt my mental stability and also my state of sanitation. I thought it best to let poor Homer follow his own amorous career, and after promising to keep in touch with him, we each went upon our own way. I still have his address, however, and, who knows? Homer may someday join the young master at his ancestral home.

Not in Public! As for "the boys at Fort McPherson" you know good and well I couldn't print such a thing publicly, but if you will drop by to see me personally I will give you all the details.

A lady in Adrian, Ga., wishes to know if the Hindoo fakirs actually disappear up their magic ropes, as Atlantans wonder if Russia is as terrible as they say it is (it's not) and at least a dozen astute citizens would like to hear of my experiences with the occult. Well, don't rush off now, but I did come in contact with things in Asia Minor which pass beyond the western comprehension altogether—hypnotism, superstitious ritual, uncanny revelations and most weird of all, the "flamingo" music of North Africa. But gimme a chance to get my

STATE PRESIDENT, IN DALTON, URGES CIO SETTLEMENT

Nance Addresses Thread Strikers, as Green Representative Calls for Pledge of Loyalty From His Textile Committee.

PURGE IN ALABAMA ORDERED BY GREEN

Atlanta Labor Leader's Organization Among Those Named by Gooze as Disloyal to Federation

Definite break of relations in Atlanta and Georgia by the American Federation of Labor with the John L. Lewis Committee on Industrial Organization, was made last night when George Gooze, of Atlanta, personal representative in the south of William Green, A. F. of L. president, issued a statement calling upon all C. I. O. unions and leaders to renounce their Lewis affiliations.

At the same time Gooze was making public his statement here, A. Steve Nance, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor and former president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, was addressing a mass meeting in Dalton offering a new agreement under the C. I. O. to settle a strike there at the American Thread Mill, the Associated Press reported.

Nance a week ago was appointed director in the southeast of the Textile Workers' Organizing Committee. In his statement, Gooze classed the T. W. O. C. a Lewis organization, and drew sharp the line of demarcation between the Nance group and the A. F. of L. organizations and leaders.

Connection Denied. Last week Nance was quoted as saying that there is not now any connection between T. W. O. C. and CIO, headed by Lewis. He also added that the textile workers never had been an A. F. of L. union.

The Gooze statement was not only applicable to Atlanta and Georgia but to the entire south. It was regarded as an ultimatum to union members to reaffirm their loyalty to the American Federation, resign their other affiliations or stand the consequences.

It came as Nance was explaining to Dalton citizens that T. W. O. C. is not anticipating further strikes, and the dispatches quoted him as saying there is no need for unrest as T. W. O. C. expects to reach agreements over the conference table with workers and managements.

Gooze's statement last night confirmed an Associated Press dispatch from Birmingham, Ala., where an open break between A. F. of L. and C. I. O. occurred last Saturday night.

Green Letter. W. A. Hays, secretary of the Alabama Federation of Labor, said yesterday he received a letter from Green advising that Gooze will be sent there to effectuate the same ruling as the state federation that was read to the Birmingham trades council, the Associated Press dispatch said.

Labor sources in Alabama interpreted this to mean all locals within the state federation affiliated with any of the international unions suspended by the A. F. of L. will be asked to withdraw, it continued.

This would leave vacant the office of president of the state federation, now held by William Mitchell, district head of the United Mine Workers of America, affiliated with the Committee on Industrial Organization.

Four unions—United Mine Workers of America, United Textile Workers of America, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers—withdraw Saturday from the Birmingham Trades Council in the first rift in labor ranks of this southern steel center. Acting under mandate of Green, the president of the Birmingham

Fireworks Ban Voted In Council Committee

Ban on sale and discharge of fireworks anywhere in Atlanta after August 1 was approved by the ordinance committee of city council yesterday following a public hearing.

Citizens and representatives of the Atlanta F. T. A. council appeared favoring the prohibitive measure, which was authored by Alderman Roy E. Callaway, while merchants handling fireworks opposed the absolute ban, but declared they realized the necessity for regulation.

Alderman J. Glover Haller, Alderman C. W. Hester and Alderman Robert Carpenter voted for the ordinance, but Councilman John T. Marler and Councilman Cecil W. Hester opposed it. The effective date of August 1 was set to allow dealers to get rid of stock on hand, it was said.

FATHER PUMMELS
TESTIFYING YOUTH*Parent Angered by Remarks of Attacker, Gets 30 Days.

TOWSON, Md., April 1.—(P)—Edward Lurz rushed up to the witness stand in circuit court today and began raining blows with his fists on a youth testifying against charges involving the man's daughter. Pulled from the defendant by police, Lurz silently received a 30-day jail sentence which Judge William H. Lawrence gave him for contempt of court.

The youth, Edward Frank, 19, of Stemmers Run, later was convicted of common assault on a 16-year-old girl. Judge Lawrence said sentence would be pronounced tomorrow or Monday.

Lurz cried out "Bar" and other names as he began beating Frank with his fists.

Mrs. Lurz, who was also a spectator at the trial, fainted from shock and excitement and remained unconscious for more than an hour.

The first successful Diesel engine was completed in 1897.

AMBASSADOR DAVIES TO RECEIVE DEGREE

CLINTON, S. C., April 1.—(P)—President William P. Jacobs announced today Presbyterian College would confer an honorary degree of doctor of laws on Joseph E. Davies, United States ambassador to Moscow, at exercises here April 26.

Jacobs said he talked by telephone to Ambassador Davies today aboard the Queen Mary at sea and that Davies said he and Mrs. Davies would come here for the ceremony.

United States Senator James F. Byrnes and Dwight E. Austin, New York drug manufacturer, will receive LL. D. degrees at the same time.

SHERIFF RELEASES
MATTSON SUSPECT

TUCUMCARI, N. M., April 1.—(P)

Sheriff Fred White said today he had released Vern Charlton, 34-year-old Seattle man held since Saturday for investigation of the kidnapping of Charles Mattson.

"It winds up everything," the sheriff said. "He left the jail and we have no more interest in him."

Department of Justice agents withdrew from the case last night. Charlton's likeness to an artist's sketch of the Mattson kidnaper caused the sheriff to arrest him.

SIT-DOWN JURY OUSTED IN 'FRISCO VICE PROBE

Judge Dismisses Panel After His Name Is Brought Into Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—(P)

Summary dismissal of a "bawled" grand jury added another twist today to the already tangled charges and challenges hurled in San Francisco's tumultuous police graft investigation.

Presiding Superior Judge George J. Steiger suddenly discharged the investigating body on the ground some of its members had connections with persons named in the inquiry, and that "leaks" had developed in the grand jury.

Steiger and District Attorney Matthew A. Brady moved to continue the inquiry with a "clean slate."

The welter of accusations and denials stirred up by the inquiry previously had involved Brady and even Judge Steiger as well as a long list of police officials and Maurice Rapf, secretary to Mayor Angelo J. Rossi.

Steiger sought to dismiss the grand jury last night but the jurors went on what he called a sit-down strike.

Steiger contended the jurors were "bewildered" and unable to command public confidence.

Brady's name was drawn into the picture when Steiger questioned him about an asserted financial obligation to Peter McDonough, bail bond broker. Undercover investigator Atherton had formally described McDonough's firm as "a fountain head of corruption" in the vice situation, which he said yielded $1,000,000 a year in payoffs to police and certain insiders.

Steiger's name was drawn into the inquiry when police disclosed they had raided a hotel property in which he had been interested, and had made an arrest for prostitution.

UNDERPASS PROJECT IS SOUGHT FOR CITY

Council Public Works Committee Asks WPA, County, State Aid.

Members of the public works committee yesterday adopted a resolution calling on the state, county and WPA for aid in construction of an underpass on North avenue under the Southern Belt Line Railway.

Councilman John A. White, who introduced the resolution, said the project will cost only about $35,000, since the city already has obtained the rights of way for this underpass. It will open up a through-traffic route and is designed to relieve traffic congestion on Ponce de Leon and Highland avenues, it was said. The resolution authorized Clarke Donaldson, city chief of construction, to confer with other agencies relative to sharing costs.

The proposal contemplates the WPA furnishing all unskilled labor and the state highway department, the county and the city to share alike in other costs.

The committee, of which Councilman George Lyle is chairman, also adopted resolutions asking the state highway department to maintain city streets that are parts of state highway routes.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES BY Sally Savers

The salad is one food which presents almost unlimited possibilities in the variety of ways in which it may be served. Have you considered the possibilities of a salad as an appetizer? This new and different manner of serving will be met with enthusiasm from all members of the household. An appetizer course always adds a little feeling of grandness to the family meal and for entertaining guests—there's nothing quite as stimulating for the good things to follow as a nice tart starter of some kind.

The following recipe for Salad Bowl you will find to be wholesome as a main course, as well as particularly attractive when served to tease the lazy appetites of those who have formed habits of too much rich, sweet foods.

Salad Bowl.
2 cups shredded cabbage.
1 cup shredded raw carrot
1/2 cup shredded pineapple (drained)
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1/2 cup sweet pickles, cut fine
1/4 cup vinegar.
1/2 cup mayonnaise (approximately).
Salt and pepper to taste.
Combine all ingredients and toss lightly with a fork until well mixed. The amount of mayonnaise will vary according to the amount of moisture present in the other ingredients. (Serves 8.)

Here is a good recipe in which vinegar and curant jelly are combined to make a most delicious dressing for serving with salads.

4 tablespoons curant jelly
2 tablespoons pure olive oil
1 tablespoon distilled white vinegar
Pinch of salt
1/2 teaspoon fresh onion juice.
Beat jelly with fork until smooth. Add remaining ingredients and continue beating until thoroughly blended. This emulsion holds indefinitely upon standing. To secure onion juice cut a slice crosswise from onion, then scrape the onion with a knife, using an upward motion. Cut away the scraped part each time and continue scraping until the desired amount of juice is had.

Shrimp and Orange Salad.
1 1/2 pounds fresh or 2 cans wet shrimp
1 cup finely cut celery
1 tablespoon finely chopped onions
3 large oranges, sectioned
Mayonnaise
Lettuce
If you use fresh shrimp instead of canned, put them into a kettle, cover with cold water, add salt, pepper, a few slices of onion, a bay leaf and a few celery tops. Bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes.
Remove the shells and the intestinal veins along the backs and chill.
Mix shrimp, celery and onion and orange sections with well-seasoned mayonnaise. Chill in refrigerator until serving time. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with orange sections.

Spinach, Egg and Beet Salad.
Canned or fresh spinach will do. If fresh, cook only 5 minutes. Chop, season with lemon juice, dash of nutmeg, pepper and paprika, then pack it into cups or molds. Chill. To serve, turn onto lettuce on salad plates and surround with alternating slices of hard-cooked eggs and beets. Top with mayonnaise or boiled dressing and sprinkle with grated hard boiled egg.

Savory Salad.
1/2 small head of lettuce broken in pieces
1/2 bunch watercress
1/4 cucumber sliced thin
10 radishes sliced thin
1/4 cup diced celery
2 chopped hard-cooked eggs few sprigs chervil
1 dozen rolled anchovy fillets
few strips thinly sliced American cheese

WHICH HALF OF A LOG IS SOFTER?

Do you know that all wood from which toilet tissues are made is part soft and part harsh? It is!

The soft part is so soft, downy and silk-like that celanese undergarments are made of it. It is called Cellulose.

The harsh part of wood is called Lignone. Cardboards and rough papers are full of it, for it is fine in papers that must be tough. But it is not so fine in a toilet tissue. So Northern takes it out.

THERE IS NO LIGNONE IN NORTHERN TISSUE—it is 100% Cellulose! That is why Northern is the softest, safest tissue. Ask for it at your dealer's.

'WAS HE DRUNK?'
G-MEN FIND TEST

Alabama Toxicologist Reveals Simple System for Court Use.

AUBURN, Ala., April 1.—(AP)—H. W. Nixon, state toxicologist, came forward today with a means of answering the old, old, query: "Was he drunk?" Many tests of drunkenness have been applied by the courts, and the question of "when is a man drunk?" is still hard to answer, legally. But Nixon claimed a simple chemical test, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and tested in Alabama laboratories, will answer the question. If one cubic centimeter of the blood of a person suspected of being drunk is placed in a container with a chromate, the chromate will be reduced, and since reduction can be measured, the amount of alcohol present in the blood can be determined. Five degrees of intoxication are obtainable by this method: 1. None or little alcohol taken; 2. Acute alcohol intoxication; 3. Higher degree of acute alcoholism; 4. Unmistakable drunkenness; 5. Dead drunk, a condition indicating almost enough alcohol present to cause death.

ROBBERS MAKE THREAT.
PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—(UP)—Safe-crackers failed today to open a safe at the office of a coal company. After trying in vain with a crowbar and knocking off the combination with an adding machine, they left a note: "The next time we come back we'll wreck the place unless you have the money on the table or some place more handy." "April fool," said a company official. "The safe was empty."

80 LEPROS FEARED
SLAIN BY TROOPS*Wire From Kwangtung Mission Reports Colony
'Wiped Out.'

SHANGHAI, April 1.—(AP)—Re-ports received today from American missionaries at Yuenkung, Kwangtung, caused fears the provincial military forces had executed 80 members of the leper colony there in their efforts to wipe out the disease.

A laconic telegram from the Presbyterian mission at Yuenkung, in the southern Chinese province, declared: "Lepros colony wiped out."

Missionaries here said the provincial military authorities long had threatened to end the existence of the colony, a cluster of huts known as "the happy valley" where the victims exist on their own efforts, aided by the missionaries.

LEPROS ROUNDED UP BY CANTON POLICE

HONG KONG, April 1.—(AP)—Police at Canton were reported engaged today in a roundup of all lepers, leading to a belief that Kwangtung provincial authorities might be planning a "wholesale slaughter."

A dozen lepers were shot last month at Samshui, a town 25 miles west of Canton. The reports recalled large-scale killings of lepers in 1916 at Sheklung, midway between Canton and Hong Kong.

Tax officials credited improving business conditions.

Oath Law Repealer

BOSTON, April 1.—(AP)—A veto by Governor Charles F. Hurley today killed two years' efforts to wipe from the Massachusetts statutes a law requiring teachers to swear they will support federal and state constitutions.

The house sustained the veto, making senate action unnecessary.

While sponsors of repeal mustered 101 votes to override the veto, to 100, who stood with the Governor, they fell far short of the two-thirds vote necessary to override a veto.

From the outset repealists granted they did not have the required two-thirds vote.

Hurley's 1,000-word veto termed the oath law "inoffensive" but a "means toward" preventing spread of "subversive propaganda." Backers of the oath law held it would help combat communism.

LONE CARRIER AGENCY
URGED BY I. C. C. CHIEF

Miller Says Pending Air, Water Bills Will Increase Work Greatly.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Chairman Carroll Miller, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, urged today that all interstate transportation regulation be placed under one agency.

Speaking in commemoration of the completion of the commission's 50 years of service, Miller said: "I think it is safe to say that financially the condition of the transportation industry is not so good as that of industry as a whole."

"Orderly regulation of all these carriers by one body should go far toward solving some of their problems, with the result that their financial situation should improve."

"If the water and air carrier bills now pending in congress are enacted," he added, "our duties will be much greater, necessitating large increases in our personnel, and the additional office space required will probably be nearly as much again as in our present office building."

Allan P. Matthews, president of the Association of Practitioners Before the Interstate Commerce Commission, expressed the hope that nothing should be allowed to impair "the efficient functioning of a tribunal which has demonstrated its capacity to discharge the duties laid upon it under different but related statutes in a fashion which has commanded general respect."

"May there be no dissociation of the different units of service which have been welded by time and experience into a homogeneous whole," he said.

BETTER
BREAD*Merita IS BETTER BREAD

If you're having budget trouble—and who isn't—here's a suggestion. Switch to better bread—Merita Bread. Here is double economy. The smooth, rich, gold-crusted slices of Merita Bread will add a zestful goodness to everything else you serve. That means that many times, when the budget is a little short, those incidental extra touches to the menu that you couldn't afford won't be missed. What's more, Merita Bread is such a delicious and satisfying food itself that the family will eat more of it than they would of ordinary bread. That means they are getting more nourishment at a smaller cost, for Merita is an ideal food for grown-ups and children too. Try the real economy of Merita for a week. The enjoyment of its extra deliciousness is an additional reason. Ask for Merita the next time you buy bread. More Southern women serve it than any other kind.

MOTHER OF 9 IS FOUND SLAIN IN MARYLAND; 2 NEGROES ARE HELD

Woman Brutally Beaten After Taking Her Husband to Work.

BALTIMORE, April 1.—(P)—A killer dragged Mrs. Mary Gunther, 55, mother of nine children, from her automobile and left her dead today in a wooded spot a short distance from her home.

Two negroes, heavily guarded against mob attacks, were questioned in connection with the killing. A little later, an emergency police car rushed one, a 22-year-old man, to a Baltimore jail under a guard of six officers.

Miss Elizabeth Gunther identified the suspect, Irving Howard, as a negro she saw lurking by the roadside as she and her mother drove her father to work early in the morning.

Police announced stained clothing belonging to Howard had been submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They said they also had found in his pocket a knife with a stained blade.

The negro denied any knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Gunther was discovered beaten, slashed and gagged shortly after she had taken her husband, Herman, to his work as master shipwright at the Curtis Bay coast guard depot.

Her son William, 28, came upon the car, one wheel in a ditch, in a lane leading to the Gunther farm.

He found his mother's body in a clump of scrub pines. A workman's cheap glove had been stuffed in her mouth as a rough gag.

Two miles away, a policeman driving along the road saw a negro man he had arrested previously on various charges. Later, he took the negro to the scene of the murder for questioning.

Police handcuffed the negro in a police patrol wagon and placed the blanket-wrapped body of the woman in the wagon, at the feet of the negro. For an hour he sat above it, impassive, before he was taken to the police station.

TROY PEERLESS
Hemlock 2766

If you are dissatisfied with "run-of-the-mine" dry cleaning, it will be highly interesting and enlightening for you to do a little "shopping" this week. Just call one of the Gold Shield group and compare the work with what you've been getting.

Send a dress and coat, and include a man's suit or overcoat—just to see how nicely they all will look. Or, make up any other combination of three garments you wish.

The point is . . . we want the men also to get an eye-ful of honest-to-goodness dry cleaning and careful, tailor-like pressing. Then see what his nibs has to say.

And, be assured that, hereafter, all work sent to a member of the Gold Shield group will be equally as good. Excellence, with them, is as regular as the tick-tock of a clock.

Ladies' Plain Dresses--Coats Without Fur
Men's Suits and Overcoats

Gold Shield dry cleaning is not a mere happenstance, nor a temporary setup for experimental research. It is what it is by sheer effort of trained employees to do a better job. Besides, they have modern equipment thruout. And, believe you we, that means a lot.

Widow of Founder of Grocery Chain Was 77; Burial Here.

Mrs. R. A. Broyles Sr., formerly a resident of Atlanta for many years and widow of R. A. Broyles, founder of the chain of Broyles grocery stores, died yesterday morning at Bradenton, Fla., where she had been in the winter home during the past 12 years. She was 77.

Moving to Bradenton with her husband when he retired from active business here, she had lived in Florida most of the time during the past decade. Mr. Broyles was killed in an automobile accident in Bradenton two years ago.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. P. A. McArthur, of Bradenton, and five sons, the Rev. R. J. Broyles, of Gainesville, Fla.; O. T. and R. A. Broyles, both of Atlanta, and J. F. and Julian S. Broyles, both of Atlanta.

Brief funeral services will be held today in Bradenton, after which the body will be taken to Atlanta for services and burial.

48-HOUR TEXTILE WEEK VOTED BY S. C. SENATE

House Measure Amended by Increase in Work Limitation.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 1.—(P)—The senate passed on second reading today a bill to limit textile labor to 48 hours a week.

The textile hours bill passed by the senate was one approved in the house several weeks ago. As passed by the representatives the proposal would have cut the present 55-hour week to 40 hours. They compromised on 48 hours, although several members fought to retain the bill as passed by the house.

"I favor a 40-hour week and I don't think this 48-hour bill will do any good," Senator Thurmond, of Edgemoor, said. "Ninety-three per cent of our mills are not working their employees over 40 hours a week now and very few work them over 48 hours."

Senator Parris, of Cherokee, said he "was told by labor leaders this amendment would be acceptable to them."

"We are to settle today one of the greatest controversies ever to rock this state. If we adopt the 48-hour week, I think Georgia, North Carolina and Alabama will fall in line."

The hours limitation would go into effect 30 days after the act is signed by the Governor.

Representatives Neville Bennett, of Marlboro, and J. M. Moore, of Colleton, took the lead in house arguments for an investigation of law enforcement of the state when the chamber split over the question of restricting the probe to police activities or taking in all offices and departments of the state.

Proposed inquiries by the ways and means committee into law enforcement activities and by the offices and officers committee into all state affairs were pending before the house.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 1.—(P)—"Mormon" back-to-the-farm movement will be launched shortly.

The program, augmenting a security project to take 80,000 needy members off relief will be explained at the annual church conference April 4, 5 and 6.

The broad permanent rehabilitation program may provide financial assistance in purchasing and equipping farms, said Harold B. Lee, executive director of the general committee for the church security program.

"The purpose will be the creation of self-sustaining farm units, either singly or in colonies, for many families now being given direct assistance by the church."

HULL URGES EUROPE TO END INTERVENTION AND RESPECT TREATIES

World Chaos Will Continue Until Ways Are Mended, Secretary Says.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The United States served indirect notice on Europe today that world chaos would continue until nations abroad change their policies.

Secretary Hull contended that if international order is to be restored it is necessary for the nations to: Re-establish international law. Re-secure international morality and the sanctity of treaties.

Return to the principle of non-intervention in the internal affairs of all nations, large and small. Adopt economic policies based on fair trade methods and equality of treatment.

The secretary made his pronouncement at a press conference, in response to questions as to whether Norman D. Davis, now in London, was sounding out European leaders on the idea of a world conference to alleviate present ills.

Hull declared that Davis, known as President Roosevelt's ambassador at large, is in London to represent the United States at the international sugar conference. The United States, the secretary said with emphasis, is not now proposing or planning an economic or disarmament conference.

JOEL LUNSFORD TRIAL WILL CONTINUE TODAY

State Evidence To Be Completed; Alleged Lottery Operations Recounted.

Trial of Joel Lunsford, former Decatur street bondsman, on lottery charges will continue this morning in criminal court of Fulton county with the introduction of additional evidence by the state. Lunsford is expected to take the stand early this morning.

Over the protest of defense attorneys, the court admitted testimony by Policeman S. D. Vaughan, of the county force, concerning the raid on alleged lottery headquarters in Clayton county. It was during this raid that Lunsford was arrested on a Fulton county warrant charging lottery operations.

Previously, county officers had raided Lunsford's home and obtained adding machines, books and other materials allegedly used in lottery operations.

The state attempts to prove Lunsford operated a lottery in Atlanta but did his checking in Clayton county, as he was allegedly doing when arrested. Solicitor John S. McClelland told the five-man jury that the state would prove Lunsford had operated a lottery business in Atlanta for the past two years.

COLTON IS MOVED TO PRISON CAMP

Escape Artist Leaves Friend, Forrest Turner, in Tower Awaiting Trial.

Facing the prospect of serving 30 years for robbery, R. L. Colton, young Atlanta bandit and escape artist, was transferred yesterday from Fulton County Jail to the Bellwood prison camp, where he will resume serving his sentences.

Meanwhile, his companion on many an alleged criminal foray, Forrest Turner, remained in the Tower, awaiting trial on April 12 for automobile theft. Colton will also be tried at that time.

Colton, who fled with Turner while being transferred to a prison camp, was recaptured in Savannah, following a holdup, while Turner was taken recently at a tourist camp near here. The new charges resulted from theft of an automobile following their escape last January.

Doctors said he probably suffered a fractured skull. The injured man was unable to tell what had happened to him. He was found by Radio Patrolmen Ed Payne and R. V. Paschal.

Stomach Gas So Bad Seems To Hurt Heart

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel bad."

Mrs. Jas. Miller, Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shook, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. At all Leading Drugstores.—(adv.)

ESCAPED PRISONER IS FROM ATLANTA

Bill Boyd, Convicted Burglar, Makes Fourth Break From Gang.

Georgia prison commission officials said here yesterday an escapee prisoner listed by Effingham County Warden W. R. Sexton as Bill Boyd, of Atlanta, had escaped three times.

On November 10, 1936, after one of his escapes, officials said, he was convicted of robbery in Truett county and sentenced to serve from two to five years in prison. All his sentences run consecutively.

Prison commission officials said a man listed as Willie Adkins, of Thompson, had escaped twice before. They said he was convicted of murder in McDuffie county September 20, 1933, and given a life sentence.

Officials said they had no record of a man listed as Joe Mot-toe, whom the warden said escaped with Boyd and Adkins.

Fools Find Fooling Friends Funny And Fitting Fillip to All Fools' Day

By CHARLES CRANE.

A new "low" in April fool humor brought a new high in chagrin and anger to at least one Atlantan yesterday as the city went topsy-turvy in a mad effort to distinguish between jokes and facts.

J. O. Harris, of 161 Hale street, N. E., was the No. 1 victim, according to all reports. Harris was at his desk in the general offices of a large chain store concern on Fair street yesterday when he received a telephone call that his house was burning down and his wife had been injured in the blaze.

What would you do? He did. He got in his car and drove as fast as traffic would allow toward home.

And then it had to happen. A motorcycle policeman stopped him for speeding.

50-Mile Grin. "Fifty miles an hour, Buddy."

"But my home is burning down and my wife has been hurt."

"Go ahead, then," replied Officer Douglas Poole from the seat of his motorcycle. "I'll follow you."

At Harris' home things looked pretty quiet for the situation described over the phone.

A neighbor's window opened and someone yelled "April fool!"

"I guess I got stung," Harris said sheepishly to Officer Poole.

"I guess you did," replied Officer Poole. "Take this."

"But I got a telephone call that..."

"The judge," interrupted Officer Poole, pointing to the speeding ticket. "He will tell the judge about it at 10 o'clock this morning."

Many other Atlantans, while not brought to quite as much grief and worry as Mr. Harris, are breathing more easily because this is the second day of April instead of the first.

Martha, the mother lion at Grant park zoo, was one of the most popular recipients of calls yesterday. Atlantans who found notions to "call" Main 5580 and ask for Martha were told by hurried park attendants that "Martha is busy nursing her four lion cubs."

Cab Caution. Switchboard operators at the cab company office were a wary lot yesterday. No cab was sent out until the call was checked and rechecked.

"They have had a lot of experience with April fool jokes," a cab driver told a reporter, "and they can soon find out if a call is O. K."

The Weather Bureau had its inning, too. Calls for "Clement Weather" caused more headaches here than a "disturbance over Texas" usually does for attaches of the weather office.

And don't think a newspaper office escapes, either. During the first hour of the new month, while everyone was working to get the final edition "to bed," a call came in that the Atlanta waterworks was burning down.

In the rush of last-minute news, and without thinking of the improbability of the concrete building and the large tanks of water burning up, the reporter began checking every source he knew to find out something about the fire.

"No, Buddy, can you tell me anything about it?" the reporter asked.

"Did you find out about the water works fire?" the called asked.

STATE WILL CERTIFY U. S. JOB APPLICANTS

Murdaugh Announces Early Assumption of New Duties by Board.

Applicants for jobs on CCC, WPA and PWA work projects in Georgia will be certified under the state department of public welfare, new organization set up by the 1937 general assembly in connection with Governor Rivers' extensive two-year program, it was announced yesterday by Lamar Murdaugh, director of the department.

Mr. Murdaugh said he would be ready to begin certification of workers and will take over this function in the near future.

The step, he said, will be one of several in a reconciliation between the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and the state of Georgia, which have been at odds since early in the first term of former Governor Talmadge.

First announcement of the reconciliation came from Miss Gay B. Shepperson, WPA director for Georgia, who said that in the future federal funds going to counties for administrative relief costs will be handled through the new state department.

Concerning state certifications for employment by the various federal agencies, Murdaugh said:

"These classifications of people, generally speaking, under federal requirements must be people in needy circumstances and those most in need of work in their respective counties."

"The success of the welfare department and the FERA in placing such people in jobs proportionately reduces the welfare problem in each county."

"We will expect the county departments of public welfare when fully organized to contract with their county commissioners for rendering all of the above services."

"Federal funds for the administration of the services now conducted by the FERA in certifying workers are exhausted and the counties hereafter which receive benefits of these services will be obliged to pay for the administration either through their public welfare departments or through some other agency of that type."

Any federal funds available for assistance of counties will be distributed through the public welfare department rather than directly through the FERA.

FHA TO HOLD PARLEY ON LOW-COST HOUSING

Conference Here Planned To Encourage Home Community Developments.

To encourage interest in low-cost housing and promote the development of new residential communities, a conference for builders, realty operators, property owners and bankers will be held at 2 o'clock next Tuesday in the Spanish room of the Henry Grady hotel, under auspices of the Federal Housing Administration.

The conference is one of a series being conducted throughout the country by Charles H. Diggs, of the FHA land-planning division and other government officials.

Mr. Diggs will outline subdivision development programs under way in other sections of the country and discuss the practicability of carrying out low-cost housing projects on large scale. Mr. Diggs is nationally known as an expert on subdivision developments.

He is a member of the American city planning institute, an organization of 250 men interested in community building.

The FHA is seeking to interest both builders and subdivision owners in construction of houses costing less than $4,000.

William D. Berkheimer and Thomas P. Kenney, underwriting supervisors from Washington, will accompany Mr. Diggs and in co-operation with the local FHA office, will pass on the eligibility of subdivisions for mortgage insurance without referring the project to Washington as has been the custom in the past, obviating all delay.

Marion H. Allen, in charge of the Atlanta office of the FHA, pointed out that the visit to this area of the officials conducting the conference, is particularly timely.

"Many subdividers and real estate developers are now planning the revision of existing subdivisions and the opening of new additions. Furthermore, the public is evidencing a great interest in home construction in the low-price field which the wide-awake organizations in the construction field are preparing to convert into actual business."

With Dr. Collins was Andrew Avery, superintendent of Decatur county schools, and vice president of the N. E. A.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 2, 1937.

THE CHIEF'S WISE STEP

In ordering the discontinuance of the wild chases of misdemeanor suspects through the streets of Atlanta, Chief George Mathieson, of the Fulton county police, has taken a step which will be universally commended.

Chief Mathieson has formerly taken the position that these chases were necessary if the department's fine record of law enforcement was to be maintained. When, in the face of this position, public sentiment crystallized against the chases, the chief had no alternative than to ban them.

Fulton county has every right for pride in the achievements, the leadership, and the personnel of the county police department. It is a fine body of men, held in dread by the criminal element of the community. The fine record of the force is the result of intelligent and zealous performance of duties. Unquestionably, however, the wild chases that have been staged through the streets of the city, have been a serious mistake which can be excused only on the ground of lack of good judgment resulting from over-zealousness.

In issuing this order, Chief Mathieson has again evidenced the good judgment and regard for public sentiment which has made him for so many years an outstanding figure among the peace officers of the state.

The chief's appeal for the co-operation of the public in the furnishing of information concerning the activities of racketeers should meet with immediate and continued response. Given this co-operation, there can be no doubt that the service of the Fulton county police will be broadened and made more effective.

IMPORTANCE OF BIRDS

First biennial convention of the Georgia Ornithological Society, to be held in Milledgeville on Saturday and Sunday next, focuses attention on a group of far greater importance to the future welfare and happiness of the state than the man of the street, in most cases, realizes.

Greater and more accurate knowledge of the feathered wild life of the state is, of course, a matter to be enthusiastically desired. Nature never expresses herself more beautifully than through the gay plumage and happy songs of her birds. The man or woman who does not find life better after hearing the notes of a mockingbird, or who has not thrilled to the flash of blue between the green of the trees, lacks a God-given faculty as precious as sight or hearing.

There is another value to our birds, however, that bears closely upon the material and economic future of the nation. Birds are the natural enemies of insects and, in the divinely inspired scheme of nature, fulfill the duty of keeping destructive insect life within controllable bounds.

Reckless destruction of wild birds by hunters who, in the past, have recognized no limit except the amount of ammunition they have to buy and carry, has so decimated the bird population that there is a very real danger of serious menace from overproduction of insect pests.

When man, by thoughtlessness, disturbs the balance of nature, he places himself and all creation in danger. Georgia, with other states, is today harried by various undesirable bugs which would never have multiplied to the danger stage had not the bird population been so cruelly decreased.

The ornithologists, in their meeting at Milledgeville, carry the well wishes of the state, both from the esthetic lovers of nature in her loveliest revelation, and from the more calculating economists, scientists and agriculturists who consider the material side of life as of primary importance.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

The proposal of Mayor Hartsfield that the city employ an expert to make a survey of the municipal government and all its departments should receive the support of council.

The municipal government is the largest business enterprise in Atlanta. With its necessary and numerous branches, it is inevitable that there be a certain amount of overlapping of function and of cost, and other sources of waste that tend to increased cost to the taxpayers.

Big business of every variety today recognizes the value of the efficiency expert whose services are utilized for the purpose of discovering and reducing unnecessary operating costs.

The expert who comes in from the outside sees with clearer vision than the man or woman who has been too close to the organization and who is a permanent part of its personnel. New eyes see many things that the eyes long accustomed to the scene, the eyes that have acquired the habit of taking the daily view for granted, are apt to overlook.

Such an investigator into the financial affairs of the city government would undoubtedly recommend economies which would repay the cost of the survey many times. It is a proposal which could easily result in large savings to the city and, in the present effort to wipe out the municipal deficit and put the city itself on a sounder financial footing, it should receive the most careful consideration by city council.

DESERVED RECOGNITION

Appointment of Judge W. W. Larsen to the post of director of the new unemployment insurance division of the state government again demonstrates the fine judgment exercised by Governor Rivers in selecting the right man for a job. Judge Larsen has served his state in many important capacities. As congressman he was a valued and useful member of the national law-making body and as judge of the superior court of his home circuit he revealed an ability to weigh problems both human and commercial.

He served the federal government in an important post in the Farm Credit Administration, again showing unusual adeptness and gifts of understanding.

He will undoubtedly continue his record of able public service in his new post.

CULTURE, DOUBLY VISAGED

Atlanta this week is host to two organizations that represent two branches of the cultural side of living that are, perhaps, closer to the average life than any other.

These two groups are music, and art as revealed through the painter's brush. The Georgia Federation of Music Clubs is now holding its annual convention here, giving powerful impetus to the steadily widening appreciation of good music, which is one of the most encouraging factors for the future of mankind.

The Southern States' Art League opened its annual convention yesterday, bringing lovers of painting and sculpture here from 12 southern states.

To both groups the city extends a most cordial greeting. The musicians will find in Atlanta a city deservedly known as one unusually appreciative of the best in music. The size and reactions of audiences at the hundreds of concerts given in this city every year are sufficient proof of the truth of Atlanta's claim to be the musical center of the southeast.

The Art League will find at the High Museum of Art a collection that, while small, contains some of the finest examples of painting and sculpture in the south today. Development of the visual art in Atlanta is probably less widely recognized than that of musical ability and appreciation, yet both are contributing more and more to the well-rounded life that must be created if mankind is to advance in happiness, in well-being and in spirit.

World's Window

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

A Problem Facing America.

NORFOLK, Va.—At the recent convention of the National Educational Association in New Orleans, Dean William F. Russell, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, held that teachers and instructors should not in the slightest attempt to formulate a program of action for teachers and schools, abandon all dreams of a new social order and be done with all Utopia building. He maintained, in the face of much opposition, that any other course is harmful to the community and plays into the hands of Fascists and Communists.

That is a typical view of timid liberal laissez-faire. Teachers are called upon to instruct our youth in something more than just a mechanical acquisition of knowledge. Who is to teach and uphold the ideals of democracy? And is not genuine and thoroughgoing education a Utopian dream? Utopian seeing that our civilization has not achieved it as yet and that it is menaced on all sides by the so-called dynamic forces of totalitarianism?

Teachers must mold the new generation in the light of a democratic philosophy of life. The generation now growing up in America needs an ideal to be held before its eyes almost as badly as it needs food for physical existence. Without a living ideal, constantly revived, it will sink into the bog of hopelessness and despair. And when that state of mind is reached, as is already the case with tens of thousands of young people, the road is open to Communism and Fascism. Youth demands an ideal and is willing to struggle for it and suffer for it. If our society cannot or refuses to furnish an ideal, a Utopian dream, with the possibility of realization, the youth will simply go elsewhere for its ideals. Youth will turn in the very direction which we want it to avoid, but against which we refuse to lift a finger.

Yet by this is not meant an advocacy of a uniformization of American youth, that the youth of this country should be stuffed with theories of conformity. There should be room in this country for minority groups, religious, cultural, and political. We should develop their own integrity. Authoritative opinion favors cultural pluralism as being calculated to lead towards a richer and fuller civilization. Outstanding educators advocate that every minority group be permitted to foster its own cultural integrity. They maintain that a program of "accommodation" rather than "assimilation" advances both majority and minority interests without loss to either.

Every American who is not a Protestant or a white man, or a native-born American, or another minority group, that is to say, approximately half the population of this land, everyone of these millions finds himself involved in one of the most serious problems of our day, the problem whether cultural or ethnic differences should be encouraged or discouraged. The Communist and Fascist come with a ready-made solution.

Democracy is on the defensive because it leaves the solution to others. It needs to raise high its banner if it is not to be swept aside. The teachers form one group in American life who, with preachers and writers and social workers, can raise the banner of democracy. They cannot do so, however, by keeping silent and keeping a deal of democracy out of sight.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

The physician today must think of nutritional deficiency disease or state rather than of deficiency diseases. "Nutritional deficiency" is the correct term in many clinical problems. This is not my arbitrary assertion, but the conclusion reached by a leading clinician, internist, gastro-enterologist, specialist in diseases of the stomach and intestines. (Reference cited for physicians only.) The subject of the gastro-enterologist's discussion was "Nutritional Deficiency Disease in the Adult," and I quote some of his observations:

"Symptoms resulting from a deficiency in specific nutritional factors occur frequently, although clinical entities designated deficiency diseases such as beriberi and scurvy are uncommon. The deficiency may be due to a deficient intake of the specific food factors for normal growth and sufficient supply for abnormal needs such as pregnancy or lactation, a defect in absorption or a disturbance in utilization. This nutritional defect is frequently multiple, although often one defect is more important."

Now just by way of contrast let me quote from another clinician, internist, gastro-enterologist of equal prominence:

"Even the physician with a very large practice will see only a few cases a year which he will suspect the symptoms are due to too great narrowing of a diet."

This gentleman had appointed himself a committee of one to dash cold water on the vitamin fad, as he regarded it.

Oh, well, it would be a dull world if the doctors all agreed.

One of the most interesting examination of great numbers of school children shows that few of us are without some permanent defect of rickets in infancy or early childhood. Yet when physicians are reminded of the shortage of vitamin D in the natural food of infant or child they often reject or neglect the prescribing of a suitable ration of vitamin D to supplement the diet of the infant or child on the ground that they have seen a case of rickets in years. It is fortunate for children today that the doctors do not refuse or neglect to give preventive treatment against rickets on that ground.

To be sure, deprivation of vitamin B severe enough to produce outpouring (polyneuritis, multiple neuritis) is practically unknown in this country, but the physician abreast of progress in diagnosis and treatment is well aware that weakness, lack of vigor, poor digestion, constipation, "letitis" and palpitation on slight exertion may be due to moderate or partial deficiency of vitamin B. Indeed, the alert physician sees to it that his heartless hospital patients receive an adequate daily ration of vitamin B to hasten recovery of compensation or reserve power. No doctor today can afford to wait until a patient could see the patient has perished.

Typical scurvy from deprivation of vitamin C is rare enough, yet physicians trained in the new school of diagnosis recognize moderate deficiency of vitamin C as the cause of listlessness, backwardness or laziness in growing children whose diet does not include enough fresh fruit. It is not anemia, vague "neuritic" pains and crochety dispositions in older folk who do not get enough vitamin C in one form or another.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

AUTHORSHIP WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Wheeler has been saying some unnamed parties came to him fifteen months ago and tried to get him to introduce a bill increasing the supreme court to fifteen justices. He has never identified the parties, but he came rather close in senate debate the other day when he said: "I said then to those who brought it (the bill) to me, 'If you take this issue into the campaign, from a political standpoint it will ruin you.' I said further, 'You will have every church leader in the United States against you.' I was approached again later in the spring, and I told them the same thing."

"The bill then brought to my attention was not the identical bill now pending, but one to increase the supreme court permanently to fifteen." Senator Wheeler did not need to mention names to his senatorial colleagues, who knew his inseparable associates last session were President Roosevelt's unofficial attorney-general, Tom Corcoran, and Ben Cohen. The three were working very closely together on the holding companies bill. The one who asked Mr. Wheeler to sponsor the bill was Mr. Corcoran, if good memories can be relied upon. The draft of the fifteen-judge bill, however, was understood to be the result of their joint labors.

Some senators with inside information have gone so far as to say, without mentioning Wheeler, that General Corcoran and General Cohen are the sole authors of the pending proposal.

HANDS Available evidence indicates they probably were the instigators of the fifteen idea, but are not sole authors of the plan. The program as laid down by the President really seems to be a combination of several separate plans, which Mr. Roosevelt himself personally put together with the aid of Judge Rosenman, of New York, and the Justice Department. The original Corcoran-Cohen plan, for instance, would merely have authorized the President to appoint six new supreme court justices, whereas the President has altered that proposed method by making it contingent upon the failure of present justices to retire, and thus giving it a temporary tone.

Origin of the idea for creation of fifty more lower federal courts was apparently independent. It may be traced to an unpublished report, presented to the house judiciary committee last summer by Federal Judge Denman, of San Francisco. This report also contained the recommendation for a proctor to function between the supreme and lower courts, but did not suggest tampering with the supreme court. SEC Chairman Landis worked privately on this phase of the program for the President. So did the nominal attorney-general, Mr. Cummings, who contributed all the legal and technical details of the plan. Judge Rosenman, the President's friend and personal counsel, is supposed to have helped to round out the plan in the message.

This may not be the whole story, but it is the best to be pieced together at this time, in the face of the official insistence that the plan was entirely the workmanship of the Justice Department and the President.

UNDERSTANDING Pompous reared its silk hat higher than usual for the visit of Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada. One reason is Mr. Roosevelt was given such a reception on his recent Canadian visit, he did not want to be outdone.

There are three other reasons which may appease the wonder of new news at the extraordinary social society of the occasion: (a) The St. Lawrence waterway treaty will require much friendship to revive it. (b) Trade treating with Britain and Canada is involved in many delicate new problems, and (c) the British naval building program is beginning to be regarded more seriously by the navy than at first.

The basis international policy of this administration is that friendly personal acquaintanceship must be established among statesmen of the world before anything can be accomplished for peace, finance or trade. That idea is Mr. Roosevelt's own, and would be unanimously approved even by the senate and the supreme court.

ALERTNESS More subcellular military conferences are going on around the War Department these days than since the World War. They are not the usual routine meetings of the general staff, but highly technical discussions in which experts from military intelligence are called in to report, presumably on such subjects as the Spanish War, British, Italian, German moves in the Mediterranean and the semi-secret war preparations being made in Europe.

So secret are these meetings that young commissioned officers are assigned to go through the waste baskets afterwards to make certain that no casual scrap of revealing memorandum has been thrown aside.

SELF-EXPRESSION Some government employees have been talking matters over, and you may be sure, if they ever decide to express collectively in a mass protest, it will be a "stand-up strike." The Lewis method lacks novelty for political workers.

SILHOUETTES

BY RALPH T. JONES.

One hundred people came to town, Within a single car, No wear, when they get to work, They don't know where they are.

They Have My Sympathy.

You have met people who lack the faculty of anticipating some of the far form of beauty? Or, in rarer instances, people who lack ability to appreciate several different forms of beauty and, in rarest cases, those who cannot understand lovely things at all.

While such persons have always abounded, in so far as I am concerned, sympathy, there is a certain strange amusement to be had when you hear, as is often the case, boasting of their own lack.

It is as though you heard a man with but one leg bragging that he could run and thereby inferring that the man with two legs who runs is somewhat of a sissy, a poor creature who indulges in effeminate pastimes. I don't know, run, too—and not to be compared to a really one-legged individual who never runs, but just stumps bravely along.

Cripples Of Sensation.

Years ago an acquaintance spoke, one night as we walked homeward together, of an approaching week of Grand Opera, the spoke of it sneeringly, with utmost scorn. I asked him why he assumed such an attitude and he declared, "Well, it's a lot of bunk and anyone who pretends to like it is just a fool. Don't you know, I really enjoy that stuff. If they say so they're either lying or crazy."

I tried to explain to him, as best I could, what enjoyment there is in hearing good grand opera and tried to make it a really one-legged man, if he would enjoy it, it was not the fault of opera but due to something he lacked. Told him he should feel sorry for himself, because he was missing a source of great pleasure.

But he sniggered at me and said he felt sorry, instead, for "all the fools who wasted time and money on such foolishness."

He made me sorry for him, but at the same time somewhat resentful at his dumb stupidity.

Music and Art, Closed to Them.

There are people, some of them otherwise excellent gals and fellows, who take pride in letting you know they wouldn't sit through a performance by a symphony orchestra, or visit the finest art gallery in the world.

And they never awake to the fact that their inability to appreciate music or art is a form of blindness, or deafness, to be mourned by the sufferer just as any other impairment of vision or of hearing. Art is the creation of beauty, in any form.

The man or woman of well rounded life need not be an authority on painting or a trained musician. He or she should be able to enjoy the glory of a great painting or the playing of magnificent music, just as he or she should be able to enjoy the beauty of a beautiful landscape. There is a certain amount of good literature and understanding, sufficiently for a lady or a gentleman of the world, good usages of all kinds.

There is more enjoyment in the pure melodies and harmonies of a great symphony orchestra than there is in a perfect meal or the finest wine. Yet no one seems to care for the creation of the dinner table.

So why sneer at the person whose soul is awake to the joys of exquisite music or brilliant painting? The well-rounded man, or woman, is able to enjoy every form of delight in his senses, all five of them, can encompass, Sight, sound, taste, touch, and smell.

Self-Conscious WASHINGTON, April 1.—I contend that oratory is a self-conscious act of expression because the orator on the platform is self-conscious and not the same man that he is in private conversation with a few friends. He may not think he is self-conscious on the platform after he has opened his pores and shaken down his bangs but he is, just the same, because he knows that the audience is out there and he is under great pressure from his vanity to make good.

If he didn't have abnormal vanity he wouldn't be up there in the first place, running off at the mouth and clouting the table that way. Vain people simply cannot stand humiliation and, this being so, your orator will screech, bawl, swing by his tail and tear his shirt, if it comes to that, to put over his act.

It is a self-consciousness, however, it doesn't make much difference if one man doesn't convince another. Under these conditions, the other man may just as well be a dummy.

The Dictator's Biggest Job Is To Keep People From Hearing the Other Side

By ROBERT QUILEN.

A recent number of a popular monthly magazine contained two articles that spoiled one another's thunder by unintentionally telling both sides of the story.

One revealed the garnishee racket by which employes are defrauded of their earnings. Where an unfair state law permits it, rascals posing as respectable merchants persuade their victim to accept some article on trial—always without the slightest obligation—and sign a receipt for it. The receipt proves to be a wage mortgage, and the victim's employer must deliver his earnings to the racketeer. In New York, the city's employes alone had $3,500,000 taken from their pay checks in one year by means of wage mortgages.

Having read this article, you say to yourself: "The dirty crooks! Have honest people no protection from rogues? Why does the law permit such unfairness?"

And then you read the other article.

It seems that solid citizens in numbers of big towns have a neat method of imposing on the good nature or simple-mindedness of merchants. It is a racket, of course, and the people who work it are the solvent or the employed who seem to deserve credit.

If they wish to make a show at some outdoor event, they "buy" fur coats on trial and return them after the game. If they give a party and wish to impress their guests, they "buy" new furniture, rugs and china, and return everything next day—with party leavings on the rugs and food stains on the dishes. If they damage any little article bought on credit, they "change their minds" and take it back.

And when you finish that article, your sympathy for customers grows cold. How did the garnishee law get on the statute books? It wasn't designed to rob honest people. Like nine laws in every ten, it was written to catch the dishonest, and because the job was poorly done, it can be used by rogues to injure the innocent.

There is no cause or controversy in which all of right is on one side. All human institutions are imperfect, and a rabid partisan is an unfortunate who has heard only one side of the story.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"Find the victors when they call
Let your body be the wall."

"Court Reform Friend and Foe 'Crim Victory' ran the headlines over news of the supreme court's reversal of itself in last Monday's decisions. But the friends and foes who are truly patriots will have no thought for victory in circumstances like these. They will hope only that the decisions promise a judicial point of view which will let an end be made to the quarrel. They will be happy that there are promises of peace between disputants who have been whipping themselves into a spirit of 'holiness' on the both sides. They will search the premises eagerly for armistice, knowing that holy they deem their side and unholy their opponents' the controversy itself is an unholy division and bitterness between people with more in common than any of them can afford to lose by crusades against each other.

Whether the supreme court's change of face on some of the matters in dispute presages a sufficient change on all the matters to make unnecessary and untenable the President's plan and persuade him to withdraw it, remains to be seen. The court indicates a new point of view on the interpretation of "due process." Has it a new point of view also on "general welfare" and "interstate commerce"? The court has made it possible for states to act in control of working conditions. Is there possibility, too, for the federal government to act, where individual state action is impracticable. Where the competition between states stops each from legislating unless all do?

Out of the sharp divisions of opinion the President's proposal has made has come a new majority. That majority wants two things. It wants the constitution adapted or interpreted to fit the imperatives of our modern day, and it wants the thing done with the least possible disturbance to the peace of our people and the principles of our government. If the supreme court in its wisdom and dignity happens now upon interpretations which obviously remove the limits placed upon national progress and adaptation, there will be victory for all. It is something for which most Americans will pray as another Monday of court decisions approaches.

During the first week of legal beer in Birmingham's Jefferson county more than 2,000,000 bottles of beer were consumed. This is about five bottles for every man, woman and child in the county and represents so extraordinary a consumption that one can picture southerners becoming a race of beer drinkers. That is infinitely better than a race of hard liquor drinkers, but how about wine? If not for consumption, then surely for sale, the south ought to become a great wine country. It has the sun and the soil, we are told, and from its Latin cousins, the tradition.

REDS CLAIM VICTORIES OVER FASCIST FORCES ON ALL BIG SECTORS

Loyalists Drive 12 Miles on Burgos as Madrid Celebrates City's Safety.

MADRID, April 1.—(AP)—There was celebration in Madrid tonight as the war front was pushed steadily back from the capital and reports of victories on every sector poured in. For the first time in many months there was indication the city might no longer be the focal point of the civil war, and jubilant militiamen paraded the streets to sing and shout of victory reports.

Only a brief volley of cannon fire broke last night's quiet. The government command said it had dispersed insurgents attempting to throw up new fortifications in University City suburb.

There was little concern for these insurgents, however, for the Madrid militia has kept them bottled in the suburban sector since last October. There has been sporadic fighting, but the force apparently is too small to provide a serious threat to the capital proper.

Front Is Far Away. And today's celebration was because the front had been pushed back. Fighting on the north was centered more than 50 to 300 miles away in the Guadalajara and Zaragoza sectors, and along the Bay of Biscay.

The Fehus (official Spanish) News Agency, in a dispatch from Valencia, said it had learned through secret sources that 50 planes took off from Italy March 25, en route to service in insurgent Spain. (Italy yesterday said she had fulfilled nonintervention pledges and would continue to do so in equal measure with other nations.)

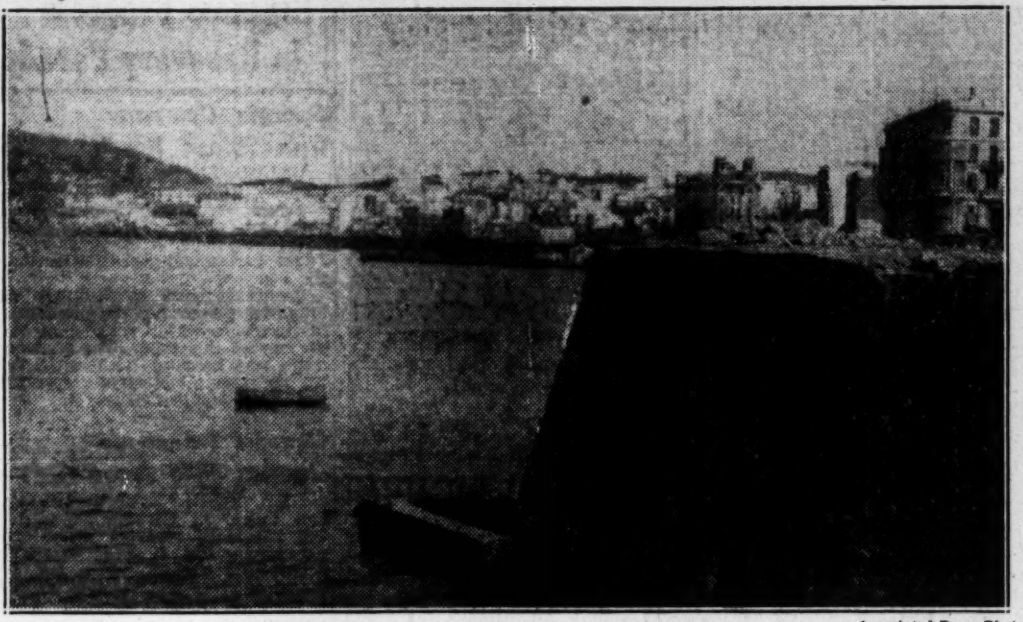

Government armies centered their southern lines in Cordoba sector, 150 miles from the capital.

So great was the demonstration, in the belief the city was safe at least for the moment, that the Madrid defense junta suggested that General Jose Miaja be accorded decoration for valor.

General Miaja has headed the defense junta and directed the Madrid frontal offensive since siege of the city began.

One disheartening report was given

Important Rebel Moroccan Port Bombed by Reds

Here is a striking view of Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, which was subjected to a heavy bombardment from the Aragon-Madrid highway, was reported to fall into hands of the government.

Troops continued to advance along both sides of the highway, gradually straightening into a front line just south of Almadrones.

Dispatches from Cordoba province said militiamen were pushing down the road to Penaroya, Espiel and Villaharta and had encountered serious resistance.

The advance threatened the whole section of the main highway north-west of Cordoba city. Occupation of the highway up to Villaharta would permit a direct advance in that provincial capital.

The threatened advance of the Santander column against Burgos added to the strength of government positions, throwing the insurgents on the defense on a majority of the important fronts, the government asserted.

Dispatches received here said the column pressed forward after taking the village of Sargentes midway toward Burgos and occupied several villages to the south.

In Avila province, several scouting raids were made in insurgent territory while government artillery continued shelling Navalperal de Pinares. Airplanes dropped thousands of leaflets over the insurgent lines near the Coruna highway urging the soldiers to desert and join the government forces.

LOYALISTS BOMBARD REBEL BASE AT CEUTA

British agitators for what he described as "abundant rumors" of armed revolt among his troops.

Francisco, in a communique issued from his headquarters at Salamanca, made broad denial of any uprisings in Morocco, Malaga, Algeiras or any other Rebel cities where his firing squads were reported to have executed several hundred conspirators.

Francisco Raps France. The Rebel generalissimo, who appeared tonight to be in grave danger of forfeiting his ambitions to become a Fascist dictator of Spain unless Premier Benito Mussolini sends more Italian "volunteers" to Spain immediately, was bitter in his condemnation of what he called French interference with the tranquility of the Spanish Moroccan protectorate.

The agitators, he said, are working from the French zone and from Tangier and are responsible for "breaking the treaties and all laws of neutrality" in the Spanish conflict.

His attack on alleged British interference was directed against a section of the English press, which he condemned in almost the identical words of his Fascist ally, Mussolini.

British newspapers, Franco said, are "continuing a campaign of defamation against nationalist Spain, spreading absurd rumors of plots."

The crisis facing Franco became boldly apparent tonight when he called to the colors the oldest class so far mobilized in insurgent Spain. The class includes men of 28 years. They must report for duty between April 4 and 12.

Revolt Rumors Continue. Despite Franco's denials, reports seeped across the Spanish frontiers that the uprising had not been completely quelled.

Enthusiastic Loyalist reports of victories on a half-dozen fronts reached Gibraltar but the Rebels claimed only one victory—the smashing of "miles of enemy trenches" on the Bilbao front northeast of Villa Real.

A government army, positioned southward from Santander on the Bay of Biscay where Rebel bombers staged the worst air raid of the civil war yesterday, entered Burgos province today for the first time since last August, a month after the outbreak of the civil war.

The Loyalists claimed to be rushing toward Burgos—Franco's capital, in the north—with the enemy "in full retreat."

Strafe Retreaters. Army dispatches said the mechanized forces of General Liano De La Uncomieta had beaten the Rebel forces back and were within a few miles of the main Burgos highway.

Loyalist aviation and artillery "strafed" the retreating Rebels in the same manner that they terrorized the retreating Italian columns on the Guadalajara and Paozoblanco fronts during the last two weeks.

Loyalist communiques disputed Rebel claims of a victory on the Bilbao front.

PHOTOGRAPHIC 'PROOF' OF INTERVENTION GIVEN LONDON, April 1.—(UP)—The Spanish Loyalist government tonight submitted to Great Britain and France purported photographic and documentary proof of Premier Benito Mussolini's "invasion" of Spain with divisions of his regular army.

The so-called proof of Italy's "un-declared war on Republican Spain," contained in notes sent to London and Paris by Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, foreign minister of the Valencia government, included copies of a telegram purportedly sent by Il Duce to his countrymen in Spain congratulating them on their victory.

Another document, allegedly from the Fascist grand council in Rome, contained greetings to "the 50,000 comrades we now have in Spain."

The documents, numbering about 30 and supposedly seized from the Italian general staff's headquarters on the Guadalajara front, were described by Del Vayo as "conclusively proving that the Italian campaign in Spain is actually an invasion by forces of the Italian regular army."

A British government spokesman said tonight there appeared to be a "sporting chance" that Italy and Ger-

Woman Slashes Throat, Man Shoots Self in Tragedies Here.

A woman slashed her throat and a man shot himself in attempted suicides in separate sections of the city yesterday, police reported.

The woman, Mrs. Gladys Goode, 34, was found by her daughter, Gladys, 13, on an improvised bed in the living room of her home at 163 North avenue, N. E., at about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. She had severed her windpipe with razor blades, and was admitted to Grady hospital in critical condition, suffering from loss of blood.

The man, Lewis W. Cochran, 36, of 808 Lake avenue, sales manager for a Decatur automobile agency, locked himself in the bathroom of the home of his brother-in-law, Robert Edwards, at 576 Arlington place, N. E., and fired a .32-caliber revolver bullet into his chest, at about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A negro maid, Annie Moore, who was in the kitchen, heard the shot and called police. The bullet penetrated below Cochran's heart and came out near the left kidney, according to doctors at Grady hospital, where he was admitted in critical condition.

Police learned Cochran's wife recently underwent a major operation and is in serious condition at Piedmont hospital. They quoted Coch-

TOURIST FALLS DEAD AS HIS TRAILER BURNS

MOBILE, Ala., April 1.—(AP)—A fire in the kitchenette of his trailer as it was being driven through Mobile brought death late yesterday to Alonzo Boynton Rugee, 49, retired businessman, of Waukesha, Wis.

Rugee, whose hobby was silver fox breeding at his estate near Waukesha, had been touring the south with his family.

"There was a slight fire in the trailer and father—his heart always was weak—became overly excited," his son, John W. Rugee, explained. Others in the party were Mrs. Rugee and a daughter, Carol.

The body was sent today to Waukesha. Rugee was a native of Milwaukee.

TVA ASKS COURT TO ENJOIN SUITS

Alabama Power Company Named in Federal Action.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 1.—(AP) A request of the Tennessee Valley Authority for an injunction to prevent the Alabama Power Company from continuing to maintain a suit against the TVA will be heard in federal court here April 10.

William C. Fitts, TVA counsel, petitioned Judge David J. Davis for the injunction, claiming the power company's suit was contrary to a decree handed down by the United States supreme court in the Ashwander case.

The suit to which Fitts objected is one now in Tennessee courts, to which the Tennessee Valley Authority is a party. In this suit, the power company has challenged certain operations of the authority.

The right to furnish power from Wilson dam to consumers in competition with private companies was granted the TVA in the Ashwander case decision.

be sure of yourself with a clear SKIN from WITHIN

SKIN that glows naturally bespeaks radiant health beneath... it is alive... stays fresh! So, be good to your skin from within and it will be good to you.

The reason for this is quite simple... skin tissues must have an abundance of red-blood-cells to aid in making the skin glow... to bring color to your cheeks... to build resistance to germ attacks.

It is so easy for these precious red-blood-cells to lose their vitality. Worry, overwork and undue strain take their toll. Sickness literally burns them up. Improper diet retards the development of new cells. Even a common cold kills them in great numbers.

Science, through S.S.S. Tonic, brings to you the means to regain this blood strength within a short space of time... the action of S.S.S. is cumulative and lasting.

Moreover, S.S.S. Tonic whets the appetite. Foods taste better... natural digestive juices are stimulated and finally the very food you eat is of more value. A very important step back to health.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells... to restore lost weight... to regain energy... to strengthen nerves... and to give to your skin that natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment and shortly you should be delighted with the way you feel... and have your friends compliment you on the way you look.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build sturdy health by restoring deficient red-blood-cells and it is time-tried and scientifically proven.

At all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The large size at a saving in price. There is no substitute for this time tested remedy. No ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good."

SLAIN MODEL'S FATHER ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF POSSESSING PISTOL

Search for Stab-Awl Started in Sewers of Beckman
Hill Area.

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—While police sought five mystery women in the life of Joseph Geedon, father of the slain model, Beckman Hill, was clamped into jail tonight on a charge of owning a pistol without a permit.

His formal arrest followed 24 hours of almost continuous questioning on his movements Easter Eve and Sunday morning, before he burst into the apartment of his estranged wife to find her, their daughter, Veronica, and a male roomer brutally done to death.

Even as police lodged the charge against him, a thorough combing of the city's sewers was under way in the Beckman Hill section. Police groped for the awl-like weapon with which Frank Byrnes, 35, a roomer in the artist model's home, was stabbed, time and time again, as he lay in his bed.

Plumbing Being Probed.

Detective Lieutenant Walter Harding, who headed the search, disclosed that all of the plumbing in the five-room apartment on East Fifty-fifth street would be taken out tomorrow in a similar search.

Geedon, wife and unfaltering in face of the barrage of questioning, laid down by relays of detectives, was taken tonight from the East Fifty-fifth street police station, where a year ago the slayer of Nancy Evans Titterton confessed his crime, and rushed to the East Thirty-fifth street station, where he admitted owning the gun.

His booking will permit his being kept in further custody.

Detective Hennessy, of the homicide squad, found the pistol, he said, hidden in a pile of household linen in Geedon in his upholstery business.

Hennessy asked Geedon why he had hidden the pistol, an old model revolver with two loaded shells in it. Geedon answered, the detective said, that he had been expecting a friend to make a call on him and had "put it away so nothing would happen."

After he was booked, Lieutenant Harding looked him on the blotter as 54 and living at 215 East Thirty-fourth street, where he occupied a cubicle in the rear of his upholstery shop—Geedon was rushed to police headquarters.

Self-Sureness Gone.

The self-sureness that marked his speech and action since the discovery of the slaying was gone. He had been trailed by milling crowds and hauled and pushed by detectives through a day of rapid-fire developments.

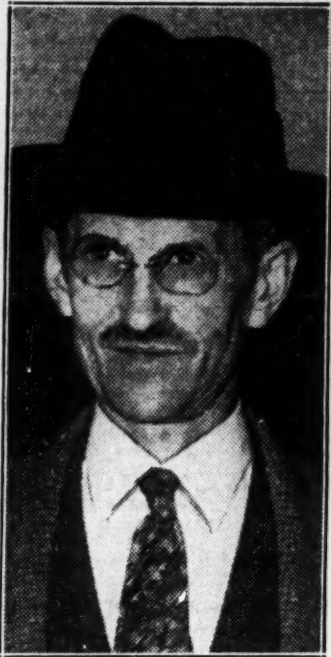

1. Captain Reynolds disclosed for the first time that the police have several awls and needles, any one of which could have inflicted the fatal head wounds found on Byrnes.

2. Several short threads of red knitting yarn embedded in a strip of adhesive tape found on the model's nude body were sent to the police laboratory for study. Lieutenant Harding termed them an "important clue."

3. Police announced they were searching for a brown suit which disappeared from Geedon's wardrobe. They also were looking for his hat, which he said he lost while drinking beer Saturday night, and for the man in a man's glove picked up in the murder apartment.

4. Miss Geedon and her 54-year-old mother, Mary, both of whom were beaten and strangled to death by the intruder who plunged a punchlike blade into Byrnes' head as he slept, were buried in a Yonkers cemetery.

for quota assistance, high tariff barriers and other restrictive devices.

With Jerome Nees, minister of social welfare for Czechoslovakia, presiding as temporary chairman, the conference will open at 2 o'clock. Secretaries of Labor, Perkins, Secretary of Commerce Roper, and John G. Willard, the United States government delegate, will speak at the opening session.

Other speakers will include Cornelio Merens, workers' representative from Belgium; Carlos Alberto Pardo, representative of Argentina, and Hans C. Oersted, employers' representative from Denmark.

Two or three days of general discussion will give the conference its "shakedown run" before the problems of the industry are turned over to committees for detailed study. The session, held under the auspices of the international labor organization of Geneva, an affiliate of the League of Nations, will run two weeks.

As a basis for discussion the conference will work on a detailed report of conditions in every nation where textiles are an important part of national economy.

Among the topics on the agenda are the 40-hour work week and wages. Preliminary surveys point out that from a commercial point of view, textile manufacturing is an industry of overproduction, but from a social point of view, it is suffering from underconsumption.

American statisticians are expected to point out that mill consumption of cotton in this country has increased in the last 10 years and that the consumption of rayon and raw jute is also on the upsurge.

The conference marks the first international study of the technical phases of a world-wide industry. It borrows last year by Winant.

executive mansion, and $33,000 for air conditioning the Governor's office.

"The walls of the mansion are thick rock," Talmad wrote. "The mansion is surrounded by shade trees, I thought it was the coolest place I ever lived in. And $33,000 to air-condition the Governor's office. They must be planning to stop a lot of hot air."

Under terms of the appropriations act, the legislative chambers also will be air conditioned.

Rushed on Rules.

Given the revenue bills only a day before they became effective, attaches of the Revenue Commission were rushed not only in making sales of stamps, but also in formulating rules for collection of the assessments.

While the beer tax became effective yesterday as well as the others, collection was not planned through stamps, but through charges against inventories and invoices.

All retail beer dealers were ordered to take an inventory of their beer on hand and to pay a difference between the old $1.25 per barrel rate and the new $2.50 scale.

Wholesalers and jobbers began yesterday to pay at the higher rate on all deliveries to retailers.

Collection in the future will be through revenue stamps, which will be affixed by bottlers prior to shipping their product into the state.

Amount Per Bottle.

The $2.50 rate per barrel figures down to approximately three-quarters of a cent a bottle.

Fishing licenses were distributed throughout Georgia to be placed on sale at county courthouses, in hardware and sporting goods stores, and other places of convenience.

The rate will be $1.25 per person for all those fishing with artificial lures or live minnows anywhere in the state, or with pole-and-line outside the county of their residence; and $5.25 for non-residents of the state.

The new cigarette tax—one and one-half mills per cigarette—boosted the state levy from one and one-half cents to three cents on the popular brands, and sent the price up from 15 cents to 17 cents in most places.

Retailers in Atlanta practically sold out of cigarettes Wednesday night when smokers stocked up heavily on their last chance to avoid the higher rate.

Change in Discount.

The revenue commission called attention of jobbers and wholesalers to a change in the discount allowed on stamps to compensate them for having to stamp each package.

While the old discount rate was 10 per cent, the new rate is: On purchases of stamps in quantities from $100 to $200, three per cent; on purchases over $200, 10 per cent. No discount is allowed for purchases under $100.

The motor vehicle division of the revenue commission issued certificates instead of maintenance tags to all applicants for truck and bus licenses yesterday, since there has been insufficient time for making the new tags.

Officials pointed out that truck and bus owners not now having the $3 tag will have to pay the maintenance tax before securing the regular license tag.

They likewise said previous registration of trucks and buses for the $3 tag will furnish them with an accurate check on those persons who do not obtain the new licenses before May 1, and that a penalty of 20 per cent will be added after that date.

The rate for the remainder of the year will be prorated on the basis of the rate for the first half of the year, since the act did not become effective until yesterday.

Chief's Statement.

Chief Matheson made the following statement in issuing the order banning chases by city police within the city limits of Atlanta:

"It always has been the desire of the county police department to be of service to the people, and if they have in any instance been over-zealous, it has been due entirely to their zeal in trying to uphold the law."

"It is my opinion that some of the incidents recently mentioned have been exaggerated and perhaps inspired, in some instances, by those who have violated the law."

"However, it is not my policy, or that of the men of the county police department, to do anything that will jeopardize the lives and safety of the citizens of the highways or streets of the city of Atlanta, nor to endanger the life or limb of any citizen. To make the above statement, I have this day passed the attached order, and hope that it will avoid any controversy that may arise."

"However, I appeal to the public to give me prompt information concerning any violation by racketeers, such as bootleggers, lottery operators, etc., who are misusing the streets in speeding over the city of Atlanta distributing liquor and lottery tickets."

Pledges Harmony.

"I am receiving perfect co-operation from our city police department, and it is my desire to work with them in harmony and I am sure that I can, under the leadership of Chief Hornsby, get perfect co-operation and in return we promise the city police department every co-operation and assistance that we can render in the interest of the general welfare."

"I have instructed my men to make cases against every criminal who is misusing the streets by violating speed laws within the city and county, and if the good citizens will co-operate with the city and county police departments, we will be able to render them the kind of service which they deserve and should have."

"It is well known to the public that bootleggers and lottery operators have endangered the lives and safety of the citizens on numerous occasions. As a matter of fact, it is well known that they have run over and killed persons, not while being pursued by the officers, but because of their reckless disregard for human life and while in pursuit of their unlawful practices."

"I wish to further state that the incident of the shooting that occurred at Moreland avenue and Arkwright place was not the fault of the city police, but of the bootleggers who shot at the officers. This fact can be demonstrated by any person who will investigate the facts. I merely make this statement so that the public will be informed as to the true situation. I have had an investigation made, not only by the county police department, but by disinterested citizens, who have reached the same conclusion."

"I hope the officers will be given hearty support in suppressing these racketeers and with public support they can and will be suppressed."

100 Rail Cars Carry Circus to New York

SARASOTA, Fla., April 1.—(UP)—A modern Noah's ark took to the road today as the world's biggest show—Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus—closed its winter quarters.

Traveling aboard 100 double-length steel cars, the big show pulled stakes and headed for New York city, where it will begin its 54th annual season in Madison Square Garden April 8.

The 100 cars, divided into four trains of 25 cars each, were loaded with more than 1,000 performers, tons of tents, wagons, trucks, horses and the menagerie.

After the New York appearance, the circus will move to Boston and then begin a 16,000-mile trek across the country, returning here again in November for the winter.

Sin's Ugly Head
To Bring Purge
By Father Divine

NEW YORK, April 1.—(UP)—Father Divine, Harlem's bald negro "god," tonight declared a "purge" of his flock after he learned that an "ugly head" in the form of alleged peccadilloes between a 200-pound "assistant god" and a 17-year-old high school girl.

The purge will include automatic expulsion of John W. ("Jesus the Christ") Hunt, plump California playboy who admittedly retired from a life of sin to become a Father Divine devotee, and now is wanted on Mann act charges for supposedly seducing Delight Jewett, Denver, Col., school girl.

Miss Jewett accused Hunt of luring her to his luxurious home in Beverly Hills, Cal., where she said he persuaded her that she was the "Virgin Mary" and betrayed her.

Father Divine, cornered after a day of searching in his "heaven" at Kingston, N. Y., said he knew Hunt and Miss Jewett had "been alone together" and had objected to it.

He said he had not read about the Beverly Hills business because he doesn't read newspapers, but if it was true, "Jesus the Christ" would be automatically expelled from the ministries.

"My followers are followers in spirit," he said. "When their spirit goes, they are expelled from the ministries. Jesus the Christ would be automatically expelled from the ministries."

Life in Caribbean.

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—The Donald Roebbling-Smithsonian Institution scientific expedition sailed today on the first leg of a three and one-half month voyage in Caribbean waters.

Headed by Dr. Paul Bartsch, curator of mollusks for the Smithsonian Institution, the expedition is being financed by Roebbling, who is a member of the party of 10 aboard his yacht, the Torano.

They will collect specimens of sea life from microscopic form on up to shell fish. Undersea growth also will be studied.

Included in the yacht's equipment are facilities for making still and motion pictures under water.

After a stop at Key West, the expedition will head for Cuba where Dr. Bartsch said he expected to spend a month exploring waters near the island republic before proceeding to other areas.

Radio communication will be maintained with the expedition with its Clearwater base.

G. M. STRIKES SPREAD, MAKING 30,000 IDLE

executive vice president, and Homer Martin, president of the union.

Also scheduled for tomorrow is the renewal of contracts in Governor Frank Murphy's office at Lansing, seeking an end to strikes in Chrysler Corporation automobile plants here which have thrown more than 80,000 wage-earners out of work. There was uncertainty, however, whether Walter P. Chrysler, corporation chairman, or John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, would be present at the 2 a. m. hour set for a meeting. Both have been in New York attending to other business, since the negotiations adjourned early this week.

Shop Committee Is Issue.

The new General Motors strikers, Ed Hall, union vice president said, centered about the shop committee provisions of the agreement signed March 12 which ended the long labor dispute that at one time caused 135,000 workers to be idle.

Hall said the strikers were "a protest" against the plant manager's refusal to recognize and deal with their committees as provided in the General Motors agreement.

Corporation officials said the strikers violated the agreement which stated that "there shall be no suspension or stoppages of work until every effort has been exhausted to adjust them through the regular grievance procedure." The strikers said without the approval of the international officers of the union.

Plants Affected.

Affected directly or indirectly by today's strikes were:

Chevrolet Motor Company, Flint: Final assembly line, 900, and parts and service division, 1,000.

Oldsmobile Division, Flint: Final assembly line, 1,000.

Fisher Body Plant Corporation: Pontiac plant, 6,000; plant No. 2 at Flint, 1,000. (In addition, a wage dispute interrupted for a short time operations of the Cleveland plant employing 7,200.)

Flint Motor Car Company, Pontiac: Final assembly line, 1,800.

The Knudsen-Martin conference was arranged after Hall and George F. Udden, secretary-treasurer of the U. A. W. A. met at the General Motors building with Harry W. Anderson, General Motors director of industrial relations, and Floyd Tanner, director of manufacturing.

Hall said the strikers occupying the Fisher and Yellow Truck plants at Pontiac and the Chevrolet department at Flint would be asked to leave and report for work again Friday.

The Pontiac assembly line closed for lack of bodies; the Flint Fisher plant shutdown because of lack of storage space for bodies, with the Chevrolet assembly line not operating.

Six Strikes Since Accord.

The strikes brought to six the number of sitdowns since the March 12 agreement was concluded, providing a procedure for settlement of grievances.

Strikers in the Pontiac Fisher plant, who started their sitdown last night, changed shifts at regular hours, but held the strike turning away 2,000 day shift employees when they reported for work.</

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

'Swing High, Swing Low'
Moves to Paramount

After a most triumphant week's run at the Fox, "Swing High, Swing Low," with Fred MacMurray and Carole Lombard, is to be shown at the Paramount theater starting today.

It is a picture with many pleasant surprises for moviegoers. Beautiful Carole Lombard, who is co-starred with Fred MacMurray, sings and dances in the film for the first time, revealing talents which are certain to lift her to greater heights of popularity. MacMurray plays the trumpet, an instrument upon which he is just as adept as he is with the saxophone, and Charles Butterworth exhibits his talents as a pianist.

But even though it is well garnished with music and glamor, "Swing High, Swing Low" is essentially a love story. It deals with a night club entertainer in Panama who falls in love with a happy-go-lucky adventurer, played by MacMurray. Through her insistence that he attend to business she develops him from a mediocre trumpet player to an international sensation.

Fame goes to the man's head and he forgets Miss Lombard. But he is made to realize that without her he goes back to her begging forgiveness. The role of "the other woman" in "Swing High, Swing Low" is portrayed by Dorothy Lamour, the girl who captivated America in her first picture, "The Jungle Princess." Miss Lamour sings several songs in the picture and leads a beautiful chorus of dancers. She wears clothes exquisitely and is sure star-material in the making.

Eddy and MacDonaldAt Grand in 'Maytime'

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, singing sweethearts of "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie," come to the screen at Loew's Grand theater today in "Maytime," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's lavish adaptation of the Rida Johnson Young opera, which was one of the memorable hits of the New York stage.

Directed by Robert Z. Leonard, the man who gave filmgoers "The Great Ziegfeld" with a wide variety of songs by Sigmund Romberg and Herbert Stothart, and with a brilliant supporting cast headed by John Barrymore in his first appearance since "Romeo and Juliet," the new musical opens as one of the outstanding attractions of the new year.

The famous song hit of the original play, "Sweetheart, Will You Remember?" was retained for the film version, with the remainder of the music divided between the sentimental and operatic. The story, adapted by Noel Langley from Rida Johnson Young's original, opens in 1905 with Miss MacDonald appearing in old lady make-up for the first time, trying to solve the romantic problems of Lynne Carver and Tom Brown by telling the girl of her own life so she can choose between love and a career.

The story then goes back to 1865 and throws Miss MacDonald, as a prima donna, and Eddy, as a young singing student, together in a cellar cafe in Paris. They love and part because Miss MacDonald already has promised to wed Barrymore, who has been her benefactor and guiding hand to success. Years later they meet in grand opera and realize their love cannot be denied. Mad with insane jealousy the husband kills the singer and the tragedy solves the problem of the younger girl. The story ends with a "Smiling Through" finish.

Miss MacDonald sings two complete operatic arias and portions of others. Eddy has three novelty songs, "Students' Drinking Song," "Vive L'Opera" and "Virginia Ham and Eggs." Together the two stars sing an American folksong for the first time, the touching "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

$25,258 IS STOLENJewels Taken While Family Attends Races.

SURFSIDE, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—A well-groomed stranger was sought tonight in the theft of jewels they valued at $25,258 from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fuller Jr., of Duluth, Minn.

One of the maids said she saw the stranger leaving the house yesterday afternoon, while the Fullers were at the Tropical Park horse races, but believed he was a family friend. She later learned from the butler no one had been admitted. Search brought discovery of the jewel thief. Two maids, the butler and the Fullers' two small children, asleep, were in the house at the time.

Rialto's 'Lost Horizon'

Road show engagement of the Frank Capra production, "Lost Horizon," will be extended for one day only, today, it was announced last night by the Rialto theater.

The engagement began last Monday and was booked to close last night, but there were so many people unable to buy seats during the four days, that the one "overflow" day was arranged.

Two performances will be given today, a matinee at 2:45 and a night show at 8:15 o'clock. All seats are reserved and should be secured at the box office in the lobby.

'We Have Our Moments'
At Capitol Next Week

"We Have Our Moments," latest starring vehicle for the screen's popular team, Sally Eilers and James Dunn, has been booked for the Capitol theater, starting Sunday.

It is a comedy drama of gay adventure, centering around a school teacher with a slender physique, who throws off small-town boredom to go on a lark to Europe. The story is filmed aboard a palatial ocean liner and at Monte Carlo, in bright, modern dialogue.

The supporting cast will include Mischa Auer, David Niven, Warren Hymer, Marjorie Kateson, Franklin Pangborn, the host of others.

New stage unit booked to play with this special feature is "Top Hat Revue," direct from Chicago, with many big-time acts of vaudeville.

"Flying Hostess," now offered at the Capitol with William Gargan, Judith Barrett and Andy Devine, together with the stage show, "Girls in Platinum," finishes their Capitol engagement tomorrow.

Crosby, Burns at Fox
In 'Waikiki Wedding'

Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Martha Raye, the trio who made

"Rhythm in the Range," one of last year's outstanding comedies with music, are together again in "Waikiki Wedding," a gay comedy of love and music under tropic skies which opens today at the Fox theater.

Beautiful Shirley Ross, who was with Bob and Martha in "The Big Broadcast of 1937," carries the feminine romantic lead of the new comedy. The cast also includes George Barbier, Lief Erikson; Miri Rei, the Tahitian dancer who was the sensation of the Ziegfeld Follies; Kuulei and Nalani De Clerq, native Hawaiian dancing team, and over 200 native dancers, musicians and other performers.

"Waikiki Wedding" is the story of a press agent, played by Crosby, whose job it is to keep Miss Ross thrilled with the glamour of Hawaii. He does a thorough job of it, falling in love with her in the process and it is when he is forced to extricate himself from an entirely synthetic Hawaii that he had created that some of the comedy high spots are reached.

Bob Burns and Martha Raye also have a romance very much like the one they had in "Rhythm in the Range," and Miss Raye sings a number of "swing" solos in the manner which has lifted her from obscurity to fame in less than eight months. The music is by Robin and Rainer, the team which provided the music for "The Big Broadcast of 1937," "College Holiday," "Champagne Waltz" and other recent outstanding musical hits.

SANTEE TRIAL CLOSEPROMISED BY APRIL 10

Court Told Charleston Needs Project To Vie With Savannah.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 1.—(UP)—An attempt to bring the Santee-Cooper power project trial to an end by April 10 was promised Federal Judge J. Lyles Glenn this afternoon by plainclothesmen in the defense in the hydroelectric and navigation project case.

The defense—the federal government and the South Carolina Public Service Authority—began introduction of their testimony Tuesday. State Senator Jeffries, counsel for the authority, told the court he believed their testimony would be concluded by next Thursday.

Judge Glenn expressed the "wish" that the arguments would be completed by Saturday week.

T. C. Williams, president and organizer of the Columbia Railway and Navigation Company, spoke highly of any proposition that would better the navigation of the state, and pictured the arrangement now as "taking an average running time of 47 hours between Georgetown and Columbia."

Thomas J. Bourke, Charleston traffic commissioner, testified the assertion by the Columbia Railway and Navigation Company that Charleston could not compete in the future with the ports of Wilmington, N. C., and Savannah, Ga., unless there is provided a navigable waterway between Columbia and Charleston as proposed in the project.

THE GUMPS—SUPERSTITIOUS MAMA

HIGH NOON

By RUBY M. AYRES

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Heather Aston, now 34, has reared three brothers and three sisters, the youngest of whom, Bobbie, cost their mother her life. Heather started her sacrifice when Bobbie was a year old, telling Bruce Logan, who was leaving England for South Africa, she could not marry him and dress her "children" and Caesar, as they affectionately call their pompous but inefficient father. Vilette, with a theatrical company in South Africa (Donsony is her stage name), writes Heather's coming home and has met the man who is coming on the same ship. When Heather meets him she meets Bruce Logan. Although Heather knows she still loves Bruce, she asks if he doesn't know Vilette loves him when he asks her to marry him and return to South Africa. Henry Mathews, a bachelor neighbor, offers Heather's family his seaside cottage at Weymouth. Vilette goes to a dance with Paddy Jenson, a strike and drink too much. Caesar has a stroke and dies from doctor, specialist and nursing home worry. Heather, in desperation, decides to ask Mathews for a loan. He signs several blank checks and when Heather says she wishes she could do something in return, he says she can—marry him. When she says she doesn't love him he says he'll wait for her answer. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

mass of words with which he tried to cloak the truth, for years they had been dependent upon his very slender capital which had now entirely disappeared.

"I dare not write a check," Caesar declared dramatically. "I feel it should be dishonored, and what we are to do it is beyond my powers to predict. We shall have to leave this house, although I cannot bear the thought of parting from the home to which I brought your dear mother as a bride. I am confiding in you, Heather, because you are the eldest, and because I feel that you alone can sustain me in this, the most severe trial I have ever been called upon to bear."

When, in a moment of weakness, she had said despairingly, "But what are we to do?" he had answered that all his life he had thought for others, and that others must think for him. And that was all, and Heather had gone from the room knowing that there was only one way open to her and that was marriage with Henry Mathews, the man who until three weeks ago had been no more than an unimportant acquaintance of Caesar's.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

"Oh are you coming, too?" Effie cried joyously.

"I can run you down, anyway," he answered.

"I sincerely trust that you will stay, my dear fellow," Caesar said with the air of one who confers a high honor. "Stay as long as you please. It is the very least I can do to offer you hospitality in return for your great kindness to my family during my illness."

"Mr. Mathews is coming, too—for part of the time," Bobbie put in. Heather unconsciously raised her eyes to Bruce, and her color deepened as she met his steady regard, and for a breathless moment she wondered whether by some strange insight he guessed what had happened that morning, but he only said quietly, "He's a decent chap, like Mathews."

"He's got pots of money," Bobbie said with a sort of pride in the man he had always applauded.

"Caesar rose from his armchair. "Then one may take it that we shall leave on Friday," he pronounced. When he had gone Vilette flung away a half-smoked cigarette and stood up. "I'm going out in the garden," she said. "This room is stifling."

Nobody moved for a moment, until Bruce quietly rose and followed her. There was a little silence before Effie said in an aggrieved tone, "It's such rubbish, Vilette talking about her 'rags.' Only yesterday she showed me two lovely frocks which Paddy Jenson bought her when they went to Paris."

Heather looked up quickly. "Which Paddy bought her? Oh, Effie, are you sure?"

Effie nodded. "She said so." And then, "Is it right for men to buy frocks for girls they aren't engaged to? I read in a book somewhere that it was wrong to accept clothes."

Heather made no reply, and when Effie had gone she put down her needlework and covered her face with her hands.

It had been difficult to sit there in front of the family listening to their light-hearted chatter when only an hour before Caesar had called her into his study and had shut the door in his best theatrical manner telling her to prepare herself for bad news. She had at once imagined that he was worse, but he quickly set her fears at rest.

"My health, thank God, is as good as I can expect," he said fervently. "It is merely my financial position which is worrying me and preventing my complete recovery."

And then he had told her, blaming Fate and every one but himself, that he was at the end of his resources. As far as she could gather from the tail figure appeared in the light which fell through the open window. Heather's first impulse was to fly, but no doubt Vilette was with him.

She said, "I believe it's cooler, isn't it? I wonder if we shall have some rain at last, and then as he did not answer she asked with a sharper note, "Where is Vilette?"

"She went in some time ago—I'm afraid she is angry with me."

He was beside her then, and Heather moved away from him as she said nervously, "Angry! . . . I'm sorry. What have you done to make her angry?"

He ignored the question but as she moved toward the door he said, "I want to ask you something, Heather. She stood still, looking back at him. "To ask me—something?"

"Yes. . . . He was beside her then, looking down at her very earnestly. "Is it true that you have accepted help from Mathews? I mean—money?"

She felt her color rising but she answered steadily, "Yes, quite true. Who told you?"

"You wouldn't grant me even that privilege?"

Her eyes fell, and her hands gripped each other nervously. "I had to have money," she said at last. "And he is a rich man. . . . and, somehow it was—easier to ask with. With an effort she looked up at him. "I will pay him back, of course—some day. He knows I will."

She wanted to say, "And anyway, I can't see that it is any affair of yours." But the words would not come.

"How will you pay him back?" The question was abrupt, almost brutal, and now he moved so that he was between her and the door, making escape impossible, and when she did not speak he repeated his question, "How will you pay him back?"

She tried to answer but she felt as if she had lost her voice and there was a silence which seemed an eternity before Bruce said roughly, "By marrying him! Is that how to propose to repay him?"

Heather stood very still, no longer trembling, hardly conscious of his nearness. Two words were beating to and fro in her brain, their insistence shutting out all others:

"High noon! . . . High noon!"

Funny that they should come back to her now, she thought dully.

"Heather!" . . . She gave a little start. Bruce's hand was on her arm, hurting her.

"Are you going to marry him?" She looked up at him, then her lips forming one word.

"Yes."

She freed her arm quite gently from his touch, her eyes still on his face. "Let me go now," she said. "It's time Caesar was in bed and—"

She stopped, conscious that he was not listening, and presently he said, "So you've given up making the family your excuse, have you? You don't need to hide behind them any longer, or is it a question that can be easily solved by a man with Mathews' money? Perhaps he has promised to adopt them all, is that it? Or is the influence he offers too great for you to put obstacles in the way?"

His voice had risen in the angry excitement and Heather said urgently, "Oh please—some one will hear."

She was trembling again now, and said in vain to control herself, though she never spoke her voice was steady enough, even gentle.

"All this is so useless," she said. "I don't know who told you about. . . . Mr. Mathews—I have not spoken of it to anyone, but if you want me to explain I will, if you'll only listen quietly—and try not to be angry with me."

Heather dared not look at Bruce, but after the slightest pause, she went on:

"It seems the best way out—for all of us. . . . the best thing I can do—for every one. I hadn't seen it like that until—until this evening, but during the past few years things have got hopelessly worse."

She turned her head away.

"I have to think of Bobbie's future—and of Effie's, and now there's Caesar. He will want many things. I—we can't afford it. He is to keep even fairly well and strong. It isn't as if I were still very young—and there's so little I can do to help, and. . . . I'm very tired, Bruce."

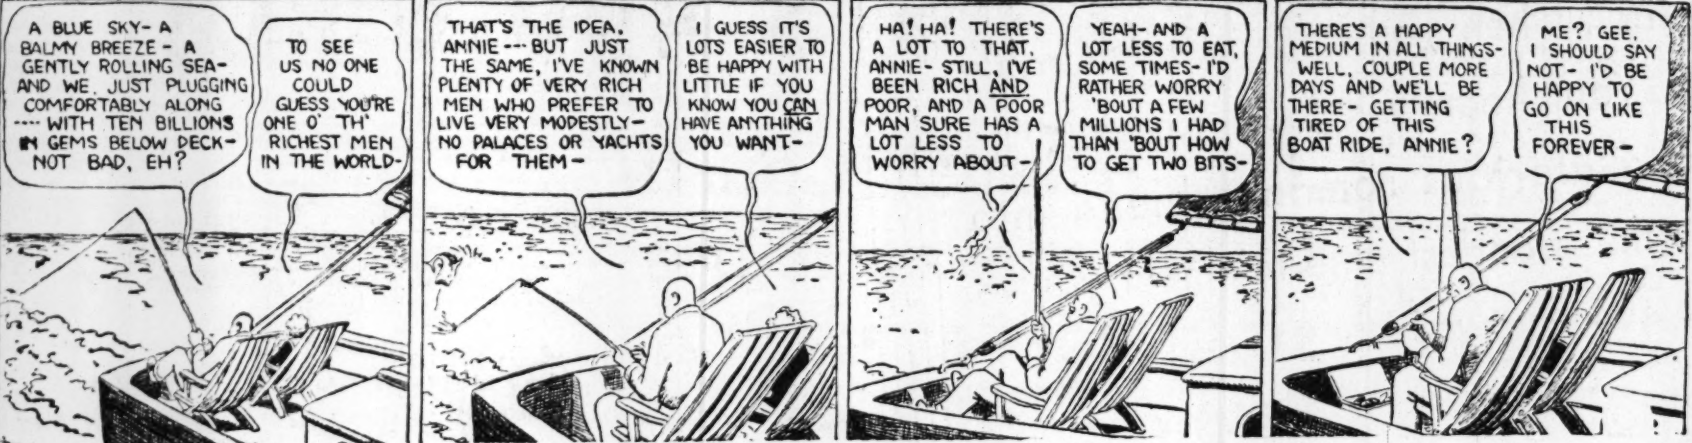

She had not meant to appeal to his tenderness, but the words came against her will. "Sometimes I feel that I can't go on much longer, and—"

"What's his name—Mr. Mathews, I mean, and it will be like—" handing over a burden to some one else if it—"

ROOSEVELT ALLUDES TO FOES OF COURT BILL AS 'ECONOMIC FOSSILS'

Wheeler Attacks Scheme in Another Message to I. C. C. Celebration.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and his old liberal ally, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, struck opposing blows in the supreme court conflict tonight.

Mr. Roosevelt hammered away at his contention that a liberal interpretation of the constitution is necessary to permit federal action upon changing problems.

The Montana senator suggested that, if the President's proposal to reorganize the high tribunal is adopted, the court's independence will be impaired.

He lashed out also at Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation to bring the Interstate Commerce Commission and other independent federal agencies within presidential jurisdiction.

The forum for these discussions was a celebration of the 50th birthday of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Neither the President nor Wheeler were present, but their communications were read.

The President's letter said one smiles today at "the dire predictions made by certain obviously selfish interests" when the law providing for regulation of interstate commerce was enacted.

Railroad presidents predicted panic and ruin, he declared.

"Those were the opinions of hold-overs from the old 'public-be-damned' days—economic fossils which, like the poor, are always with us. Of course, none of these dire prophecies was fulfilled."

"I am reliably informed," he said at another point, "that when the founding fathers created that social, economic and political system of government, which they hoped would be a permanent charter of liberties, they caused infantile paralysis, common colds, smallpox, flu and other diseases."

Unexpected appearance of meningitis led to discovery of the parasite, he said. "Nearly two years' study was needed to verify its nature."

American Parasite Accidentally Found

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Discovery of a disease parasite, toxoplasma, heretofore unknown in North America, was announced today by Rockefeller Institute workers in the Journal, Science.

The American parasite, they said, causes a disease resembling meningitis in guinea pigs and mice, fever in monkey and is suspected of attacking human beings. The parasite, barely visible under microscopes, is either half-moon or pear-shaped.

Fort Benning, Great Army School, Home of War-Strength Regiment

29th Infantry, Composed Chiefly of Georgians, Tests All
New Material Before Adoption for Use in United States Army.

On April 6 the United States army observes Army Day, designed to call attention to the general public to the activities and benefits of the organization. This is the third in a series of five articles written to outline the work and the history of the army in Georgia and the fourth corps area.

Fort Benning is the home of the 29th Infantry, composed chiefly of Georgians, which tests all new material before adoption for use in the United States Army.

The reservation at the Fort covers approximately 97,000 acres and the troops are stationed there. It is large enough to permit field exercises of large bodies of troops and often has been the concentration point for mass maneuvers by all units of the fourth corps area command.

The post is located 10.5 miles southwest of Columbus in Chattahoochee and Muscogee counties. Benning was named for General Henry L. Benning, a distinguished lawyer and judge of Columbus, who died in 1875. A tablet in his honor was erected in 1909 by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Camp Benning was used during the World War, but it was not until 1922 that it was designated as a permanent military post and the name changed to Fort Benning.

MRS. SIMPSON DIVORCE RAPPED BY HUNDREDS

One Writer Tells Proctor He Can Obtain Impeding Evidence.

LONDON, April 1.—(AP)—Hundreds of letters protesting Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's divorce and accusing the King's proctor of yielding to pressure from high officials to "hush up" the case have poured into his office during the last two weeks, it was learned tonight.

Many were anonymous and abused Sir Thomas Barnes, King's proctor, of "knowing to higher-ups" since the last barrier to Mrs. Simpson's final divorce decree April 27 was eliminated when the only charge of alleged collusion was dropped March 19.

Among the letters was one from a man who insisted he could obtain sufficient evidence to force the proctor to intervene. He was not in a financial position to obtain the necessary evidence himself, he said, and asked the proctor to finance the investigation.

Many letters obviously were written by cranks.

The proctor pointed out if the writer wished to supply evidence he must do so immediately since the office must enter a plea within 14 days. Should one be filed, a hearing probably would be held less than a month from the entry, making it too late to take effect since the decree nisi period expires April 27.

TWEEDSMUIR PLEADS FOR ANGLU-S. UNITY

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, ended his three-day official visit to the United States today with a plea for closer friendship between the two nations.

In two formal speeches, the personal representative in Canada of King George VI, pointed out the mutual benefits of close friendship between the United States and Great Britain.

He directed attention to special similarities between Canada and this country, which he said were the basis of the close friendship between the two nations.

PASTOR OPENS CRUSADE TO BAN VAN LOON BOOK

BRAZIL, Ind., April 1.—(AP)—The Rev. Verdie Allen, Beech Grove minister, who claims evolution "opens the door to atheism and communism," began his state-wide campaign here tonight to ban from Indiana schools Hendrick Van Loon's "The Story of Mankind."

The minister, who came to Indiana from the Kentucky hill country, announced in advance he would "raise Cain" here tonight, and his opening words were:

"If evolution is true, then we should close all churches and theological seminaries and write over the door, 'Closed for lack of evidence.'"

Lecture on Bird Life To Be Given Tuesday By Dr. Alden Hadley

Getting a close-up view of wild birds and other wild life in their native haunts and habitats is rarely easy and often impossible for the majority of humans, but those in Atlanta who would like to do so may, through a motion picture film illustrating a lecture to be given by Dr. Alden H. Hadley on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at William A. Bass Junior High school auditorium. Dr. Hadley will speak under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Bird Club, which will tell of "The Wanderings of a Bird Lover in the South."

Films and slides illustrating Dr. Hadley's lecture have been made and collected over a number of years in the woods and fields; intimate domestic scenes and thrilling and fascinating incidents in wild bird life have been brought by way of the screen to those who cannot follow him.

A graduate of Stetson University with a B. S. degree, and also of the University of Chicago, the speaker is a world authority on ornithology, which he has been studying since he was 14 years old. Dr. Hadley is donor of the noted scientific museum collection of bird skins at Earlham College, Indiana; he is a member of the general ornithology division of the University of Florida and special field representative of the American Association of Audubon Societies, who have "loaned" Dr. Hadley to Florida for special co-operative work in the state.

Members of earlier clubs, conservation groups, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, students and nature lovers are invited. A small admission will be charged. Any funds above expenses will be used for educational and conservation activities in behalf of Georgia bird life.

Officers of the Atlanta Bird Club sponsoring the lecture are Mrs. James Connor, Oliver, president; Ray C. Werner, first vice president; Dr. Hugh E. Harris, second vice president; Miss Loretta Chappell, recording secretary; Miss Berna Jarrard, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. N. H. Giles, treasurer.

Parties Are Planned For Miss Craighead.

Additional parties continue to be planned for Miss Kathryn Craighead, whose marriage to Ralph Wilson Lavender will be an interesting social event of the early spring.

Our Saturday evening Dr. Amey Chappell will honor Miss Craighead and Mr. Lavender at a supper at her country place on Spaulding drive. Next Wednesday evening Mrs. Harry Bonnell will be hosts at a bridge supper at their home on Bolling road.

The bride-elect shared honors Wednesday with Mrs. Marcus Broughton of York, Pa., and Mrs. Eugene Brown of New Jersey, guests of Mrs. Donald Hastings, when Mrs. Grady Poole entertained last evening at luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Hand-painted place cards, carrying out the bridal motif, marked the places of the guests and the luncheon table was centered with a bowl of pastel-shaded spring flowers.

Another delightful affair honoring Miss Craighead was the tea at which Mrs. DuPont entertained Wednesday at her home on North Decatur road. Mrs. Joseph Powers, of Fargo, N. D.; Mesdames Mason Lowance, George Harner and Wallace Kilgore and Miss Dorothy Collier assisted in entertaining. Vases and baskets of Briarcliff roses adorned the reception rooms; the dining room table, overlaid with a Point de Venise cloth, had for its central decoration a large silver bowl of Taitian roses and spring blossoms.

Atlantan Takes Part in Strawberry Shortcake Derby at U. of Tennessee

By Sally Forth.

THE University of Tennessee, which enrolled Mary King Hart, of Atlanta, as one of the valued students, staged a strawberry shortcake derby one day last week. It started when Dorothy Elgin, a member of the senior class, said, "On account of I like strawberry shortcake so good." Then and there, Andrew Pugh, auditor of the university, bet $5 that four girls couldn't eat $5 worth of shortcake within one and one-half hours. Dorothy was game, and gathered together three of her college pals, Mary King Hart, of Atlanta, and Mary Elizabeth Bomer, of Knoxville, members of the freshman class, and Virginia White, of Knoxville, who is a junior.

In typical derby fashion, the contestants gathered at the tea-room post, with the auditor starting them off with a stopwatch at 12:37. Before them were 33 luscious shortcakes topped with whipped cream and fresh berries. The girls were fortified with forks and plates. For the first half hour it was great sport, but gradually their appetites rebelled and, at the end of the time limit, the girls weren't half through the 33 cakes.

Mary King Hart ate five; Dorothy Elgin, who started it all, ate three; Mary Elizabeth Bomer devoured three each, and Virginia White had six to her credit. The final count showed the girls had consumed 19 cakes, although that doesn't exactly tally with the individual records but everybody was a bit groggy. They paid the $5, but that wasn't the worst of the bargain. That came afterward. Mary King Hart and Mary Elizabeth Bomer were each given a class which called for modernistic dances, and the other girls had classroom studies. After the classes, they all took naps, and the young Atlantan is the only one of the five who wants "more shortcake."

MRS. MAXWELL B. LONG is among the attractive visitors here this week, and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Aiken, at their Peachtree street residence. Mrs. Long is the wife of the Rev. Maxwell B. Long, the well-known rector of the Church of the Redeemer in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Aside from being attractive and charming, Mrs. Long is a finished musician and pianist. She organizes as well as the piano. She is a decided blonde, with smiling blue eyes, and her golden hair curls in graceful waves on her shapely head.

Mrs. Long is the mother of two daughters, Kitty, who recently observed her 15th birthday, and little ten-year-old Anne, who is going to be a finished musician like her pretty mother.

THE very first visit ever made anywhere by small Maynard Edwin Young Jr. was to the executive board meeting on Wednesday of the State Federation of Music Clubs, now holding its annual convention here.

Which was very right and proper, for the federation has claimed him unreservedly since his advent upon this terrestrial sphere on the 13th of last February.

Which is also right and proper, for his mother, Morelle Horton Young, is one of the federation's most brilliant and valued members, as well as one of the state's most gifted musicians. She is the Constitution's music editor and critic and an outstanding figure in music circles.

You can imagine the admiration the baby evoked among so many of his mother's close friends. And though he had never before witnessed so much excitement, he viewed the strange proceedings from his mother's arms with much aplomb and was not the least abashed.

If You Want To LOSE UGLY FAT 7 POUNDS A MONTH

Without suffering a hungry moment—TRY THIS AMAZING WAY

TODAY, an amazing, new reducing method is sweeping the country. A method which offers at last, a way to take off ugly fat without suffering a hungry moment—and without taking strenuous exercises or drugs. A method which increases physical and mental energy as excess weight disappears.

Under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, a number of people who were gaining at the rate of 136 pounds a month, followed this remarkable method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds per person in a single month. Consider that carefully.

This Is All You Do

This sensational reducing method simply calls for this: Mix 1/4 of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with 1/4 of a glass of water, and drink before each meal—and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly, and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel completely satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy. And, most important, helps nature to consume excess fat.

Third, the juice has an alkalizing effect on the system which any doctor will tell you is highly beneficial.

This is why weight is not only lost naturally and safely—often at the rate of 7 pounds a month, or more—but why you feel so much better and stronger as your ugly fat disappears.

Only One Thing to Watch

In following this proved, SAFE way to lose ugly fat—eat sensibly—and be sure to use Welch's pure, aged, unadulterated full-strength grape juice. Made from the finest grapes grown. No water added; no artificial coloring. Good Housekeeping approved. Insist upon the genuine Welch's Grape Juice for the results you want.

WATCH YOUR HUSBAND'S WEIGHT

Insurance Companies warn about the dangers of overweight. They have definitely proved that overweight places too much of a load on the heart, is often associated with such diseases as diabetes and kidney trouble—and shortens the normal span of life. Don't allow your husband to become overweight. Suggest this amazingly easy, pleasant, safe Welch way to reduce.

New York Visitors Are Complimented At Social Affairs

The visit here of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Morris, of New York city, has provided the inspiration for several informal social affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Morris visited Atlanta several years ago when their daughter, Mrs. Patrick St. John Sterling, made her debut here at the Piedmont Driving Club as the former Miss Eugenia Morris.

Mrs. Morris is a descendant of prominent Georgia families and is the former Miss Edythe Stephens. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens, who was born on the plantation of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Fitzgerald, in Clayton county, Georgia.

General Sherman used the Fitzgerald home for his headquarters before and during the Battle of Jonesboro.

Mrs. Morris is a sister of Mrs. David Crockett, and a kinswoman of Mrs. Robert A. Smythe, and has other relatives here who are socially prominent. Mr. and Mrs. Morris motored from New York to Charleston to visit the famous South Carolina gardens, and they departed by motor yesterday to make the return trip to New York.

Miss Ewing and Mr. Valentine Will Wed Saturday Afternoon

Of important social interest will be the marriage of Miss Lucia Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ewing Jr., and George McLean Valentine, now of Tampa, Fla., formerly of Atlanta, tomorrow afternoon.

The ceremony will be a quiet event and takes place at the Druid Hills home of Bishop Warren A. Candler, who will officiate. The young couple will be unattended and assembling at the rites will be a limited number of friends. After their wedding trip the young couple will reside in Clayton, Ga.

Miss Ewing has been honored at a number of pre-nuptial social affairs and today she will be complimented at the luncheon at which Miss Jean McKay entertains at Rich's. Covers will be placed for Misses Ewing, Helen Bell, Margaret Preacher, Annette Hightower, Julia Hoyt, Alice Armstrong, Dorothy DeKlynn, Jean Williams, Ruth McCurry and the hostess.

This evening Alex Windsor entertains at a dinner party for Miss Ewing and her fiancé, and tomorrow Miss Helen Bell gives a luncheon at Davison's for Miss Ewing.

Agnes Scott Juniors Feted by Freshmen.

The freshman class of Agnes Scott College entertained members of its sister class, the juniors, at an informal "April Fool" party yesterday in the Bucher Scott gymnasium. The freshman faculty advisors, Misses Blanche Miller and Helen Carlson, were chaperons.

Miss Ruth Slack, class president, was assisted in arranging the party by Misses Frances Hampton, Ruth Kaplan, Rebecca Druker, Shirley Steele, Elizabeth Davis, Heurita Thompson, Marjorie Boggs, Grace Ward, Mary Reins, Penn Hammond, Mildred Joseph, Carolyn Forman, Ann Enloe, Lorraine Guinn, Barbara Lee Murlin and Gary Horne.

Miss Frierson Feted At Trousseau Tea.

Mrs. Alice Frierson and Miss Alice Frierson entertained at 150 guests at a trousseau tea Wednesday at their home on the Adam street, in Decatur, honoring Miss Elizabeth Frierson.

The receiving line included Mrs. Frierson, Misses Elizabeth and Alice Frierson, Mrs. J. L. Kennedy, of Clarksville, and Mrs. A. M. Gimmilat, of Savannah. Assisting were Mesdames W. R. Wilburn, Ed Carmack, Eugene Bothwell, J. C. Haynes, W. L. Mackert and Miss Edlyn Wilburn.

A color motif of green and white was carried out. The lace covered tea table was centered with a bowl of white flowers and white tapers were used in silver holders.

SMITHIES MEET TYPISTS TODAY AT GRADY FIELD

G. M. A. Plays Columbus
High at College Park.

By Roy White.

Tech High, the defending champion for the seventh straight time; Lanier, of Macon, Columbus Industrial and G. M. A. will be hosts today in the opening of the annual Big Eight baseball schedule.

Tech High plays an improved Commercial High team on the Henry Grady field and G. M. A. opens with Columbus High on the College Park diamond in two choice games for Atlanta's spectators.

Boys' High journeys to Columbus to open with the Industrials and Monroe plays Lanier High on the Macon field.

Lanier, winner of the football championship, second in track last year, and third in basketball, and Columbus High, are new to the Big Eight. Lanier replaces Riverside Military Academy and Columbus High was added to the former Big Seven.

Hub Dowis, former Riverside Military Academy athletic director, is also new to the league, coaching Tech High's nine. Gabe Tolbert, veteran Smithies coach, is devoting his entire time to spring football for the first time, and after some four or five more weeks will join Dowis in directing the baseball team.

PURPLES BREAK EVEN. Only Boys' High has played any practice games to speak of and there is the only basis for comparison. The purples lost to Southwest DeKalb and defeated the Oglethorpe Freshmen for an even break in the pre-season games. Captain Bob Smith will most likely hurl for the Purples in the opener today at Columbus.

G. M. A. has played a couple of independent teams and fared well, though Coach Sam Burbage is far from content with the lineup as used in practice.

Steve Arthur, a southpaw, who has shown promise in the practices, will most likely draw the opening pitching assignment at G. M. A., with Bill Whitaker behind the plate. The remainder of the Cadet team will include: Polk, first; Captain Johnny Bosch, second; John Alley, short, and Taylor, a veteran, at third. Mulvey, Openheim and Wells will patrol the outfield.

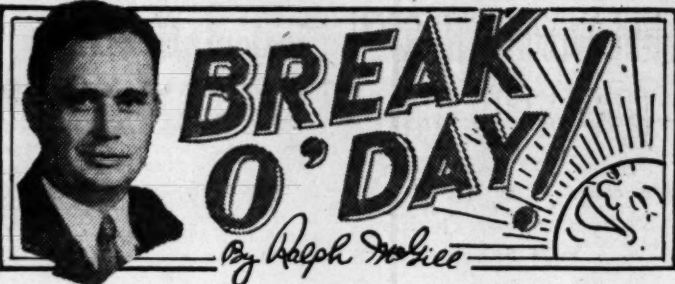

Scouter one of the best pitchers in the league last year, will hurl for Tech High in defense of the 1936 championship.

Coach Red Barron is reported to have one of the best teams ever to represent the Monroe Aggies and that opening game at Macon with Lanier should be one of the best of the first half race.

Coach Selby Buck always has a worthwhile team at Lanier High, no matter what athletic team it is. And going into the Big Eight race after an absence of baseball for some time at Macon, is a sure sign that the Ports will be plenty tough to get along with.

THE SCHEDULE.
Commercial at Tech at Lanier High.
Columbus High at G. M. A.
Boys' High at Industrial.

SEAWANE WINS.
SEAWANE, Tenn., April 1.—(AP)—Seawane's track tennis team maintained its unbeaten record today with a 4 to 3 victory over Mississippi State in a Southeastern conference engagement. It was Seawane's third victory of the season, the first outdoors.

AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—Byron Nelson did no April fooling this afternoon when he came striding in with a 66 to take the lead in the fourth Masters' golf tournament.

A 66 isn't fooling at any time. And especially not today when there was a brisk wind blowing across a warm afternoon. And when putts had to drop on greens which were like green glass.

That 66 was just six strokes under par. In the clubhouse I asked Nelson how he did it.

"Well," he said, "it was just one of those days. I was on those greens with my second one and I didn't three-putt any green. That's where the golf game blows away, on those three-putt greens."

"I closed out the first nine with birdies on the last three holes. I had four on that nine. I picked up two more birdies on the second nine."

"Let's see, I had six one-putt greens. I drove the seventh green. That was 340 yards. I was on the eighth, which is 500 yards, in two and got a birdie."

"What the best hole you played?"
"I'd say the 17th. I almost holed out a two on 17. And I got a birdie three."

Nelson put on a fresh sweater, changed shoes and went in for a bit of refreshment.

"Don't three-putt any greens," he said, grinning back as he went in for milk and a sandwich.

"How about tomorrow?"
"Naturally, I think I've got some more good rounds left. This is one of the best rounds I ever played. But not the best."

Nelson was 25 years old in February. He was born at Fort Worth, Texas. Last February he signed with a club at Reading, Pa.

RALPH GULDAHL'S STORY.
For a while today Ralph Guldaul was in the lead.

He came in with a 69, which means he didn't three-putt many greens. Most amazing feature was the fact he went out in a 37, one over par, and came back with a 32, four under.

The Norwegian youngster was feeling great about his game. Once he quit.

In 1933 at North Shore, near Chicago, he missed a four-foot putt to lose a tie for the National Open and a chance in a play-off.

He went back to California and quit.
"I was pretty down about it," he said. "I fooled around at this and that, thinking perhaps a fellow as poor as I at golf should let the game alone."

"That's a bit odd. A fellow who just missed a tie at the National Open doesn't figure to be a terrible golfer."

"Well, that's the way I felt about it. Then, in 1936, I thought I'd have another try at it."

"Is it true you were, for a time, an automobile salesman?"

HUSTON DENIES HE'S PURCHASED BROOKLYN CLUB

Latest Deal Makes Babe
Ruth as Manager, Sid
Mercer President.

SEA ISLAND BEACH, Ga., April 1.—(UP)—Colonel Tillinghast Huston, prominent sportsman, denied tonight that he had completed negotiations for purchase of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National league.

The colonel flatly denied reports published in New York that he had completed a deal whereby he would acquire the Dodgers for $1,600,000.

"I've been negotiating to purchase the club for a year," he said, "but I'm certainly no nearer completing the deal than I was a year ago."

Reports in New York, which said the deal had been completed, named Babe Ruth as the man Huston would select as manager. Sid Mercer, a sports writer, would be president of the club under the new setup, according to the reports.

Boys To Teach Diamond Art Abroad

MIAMI, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—Six youngsters were named last night for a tour of England this summer to instruct their cousins across the Atlantic in the American game of baseball.

Leslie Mann, director of the United States amateur baseball congress school here, said the following players would leave for England on April 20 from New York:

Tallie Ellis, catcher, from Fort Myers, Fla.; Doyle McNeece, first baseman, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Cecil Tyson, outfielder, from Elm City, N. C.; Edwin Muma, third baseman, of Sharpsburg, Md.; Max Wilson, outfielder, of Haw River, N. C.; and Wally Stevens, outfielder, from Buffalo, N. Y.

The English trip will be made under the auspices of the National Baseball Association there, a member of the International Baseball Federation organized at the last Olympic games. The youngsters, all between 20 and 22, were "honor graduates" of the congress' baseball school, which closed a 30-day season today.

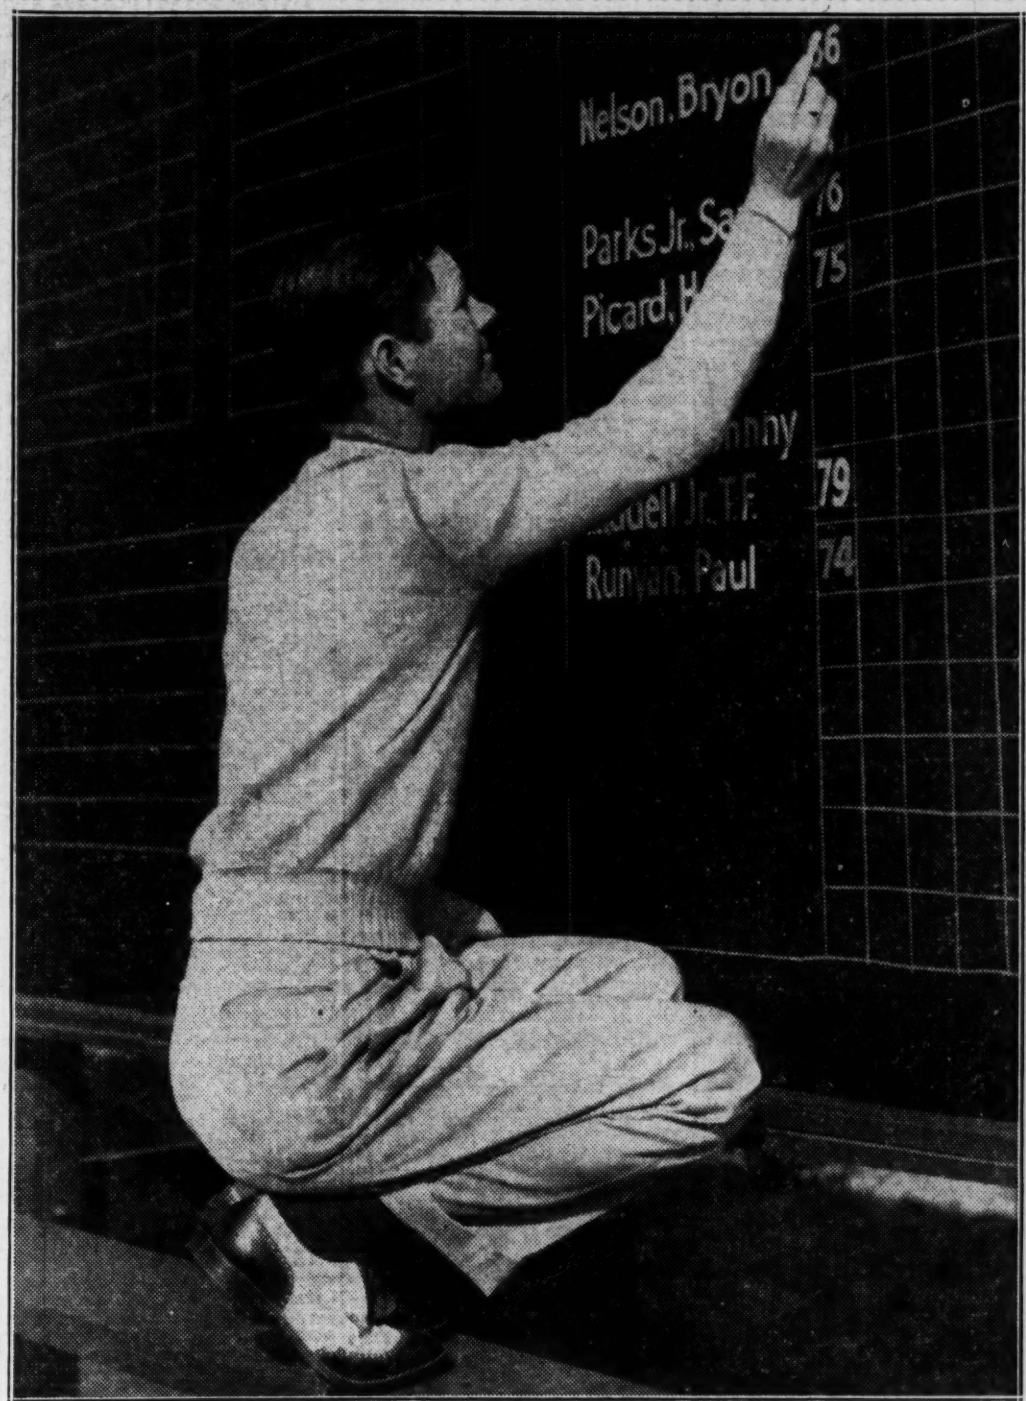

No Speer Show Slated Tonight

For the first time in several months, there will be no heavy-weight wrestling show at the Atlanta theatre tonight.

Promoter Frank Speer, who has shown a galaxy of big-time stars this season, including Everett Marshall, Dean Detton and Dick Shikat, was unable to get the performers he wanted so he decided to concentrate his efforts on arranging a special program for next week. He will announce his next offering shortly.

Speer has contracted to bring Atlanta the greatest spring and summer mat programs in history, he says. The old Tech star has proved a most accomplished matchmaker. His shows have been consistently high class and the attendance has

Augusta Leader Chalks Up Record 66

Byron Nelson, tall blond pro from Reading, Pa., shattered the competitive course record with a sensational 66, six strokes under par, Thursday afternoon at Augusta in the first round of the fourth annual $5,000 Masters' golf tournament. Almost entirely overlooked in the pre-tourney betting, the smiling youngster carded a 33 going out, and came in with another 33. He is shown above chalking up his record 66. Ralph Guldaul's 69 was next. Charlie Yates was second among the amateurs with a 76.

BUFORD TO PLAY SMOKIES TODAY

CORDELE, Ga., April 1.—The Knoxville Smokies, members of the Southern league, in spring training at Cordelle, will meet the Buford Shoemakers in an exhibition game here Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Shoemakers have one of the greatest semi-pro clubs in the country and only last year were runners-up in the National Semi-Pro tournament held in Wichita, Kan. They boast that they have a better ball club than most of the clubs in the Southern league and hope to prove it Friday.

The Smokies are taking this game do the catching for Bona Allen's out seriously and mean to win this one. Much interest is being taken in The veteran Leo "Lefty" Moon will the game by Cordelians due to War get the call from Manager Neil ren's appearance in the lineup.

RALPH GULDAHL TRAILS WITH 69; JONES CARDS 79

Cox, Dudley, Little Tie at 70; Yates Has 76,
Sweetser 75.

By Kenneth Gregory.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, a 25-year-old bashful youngster from Reading, Pa., gave par and his fellow professionals a terrific beating today in the opening round of the $5,000 Augusta National tournament as Bobby Jones, one-time king of the golf world, all but shot himself out of the running in his fourth comeback attempt.

Under perfect playing conditions, young Nelson, metropolitan open champion and ninth among the winter money winners, shattered the competitive record for the course with a sensational 66, six under par.

Jones, unable to regain the concentration that carried him to 13 major titles, suffered a miserable case of putting "jitters" to fall far behind with a 79, seven strokes over par and in a tie for 42nd place after the first 18 holes.

TWO 33'S. Nelson, a quiet kid whose ancestors were a combination of Irish and Swedes, slipped through slim galleries with a nice pair of 33's, three under on each side of the beautiful Augusta layout. He had six one-putt greens and performed unannounced with his iron and putter.

Trailing the Pennsylvania professional, a 14 to 1 shot in the tournament books, was slender Ralph Guldaul, former automobile salesman from St. Louis. Guldaul, 25, unlocked the greatest come-back of the inaugural round to clip four strokes from standard figures on the second nine after a one over par 37 on the out.

Exactly a dozen professionals equaled or bettered par 72, as Jones, outwardly disgusted with his game after four-putting the par 4 third hole, wound up behind three of the oldest players in the game and in next to last place in the field of 46. Far ahead of the retired "grand slam" champion were Tom Kerrigan, of New York, with a 75; George Sargent, of Atlanta, pro at Jones' home course at East Lake, with a 76, and the veteran Jack Hutchinson, of Evanston, Ill., with a 77.

FAVORITES FAIL. Favorites were left in the wake of the dust kicked up by the Nelson and Guldaul par-shattering exhibitions. As for Nelson's great 66, it eclipsed the competitive record of 67 made in previous tournaments by blond Craig Wood, of New York, and Henry Picard, of Heceta, Pa., both of whom were in precarious positions.

Lighthorse Harry Cooper, of Chicago, 9 to 1 choice in the books as the field went to the post, finished in a six-way tie for 13th place with a 73.

Only big Ed Dudley, of Philadelphia, whose duties bring him here each winter as the home course professional, managed to uphold in a fair way the prestige of the favorites. Dudley

PELICAN PARK, PANAMA CITY, Fla., April 1.—Those persistent Pelicans of Panama City kept hammering away at the Crackers today, but our noble lads finally came through with an 8-to-6 victory in what is positively the final exhibition game of the schedule here. The boys depart early tomorrow for Lanett.

The Crackers showed their first exhibition game slugging, featuring a tremendous home run by big Joe Hutcheson, the first of the camp. Hutch tied off on Morrill, rapping the ball better than 350 feet over the right field fence. It came in the third inning with nobody on base.

In one inning, the fifth, the Pelicans tied up the game. Luman Harris, who had pitched hitless baseball for four innings, couldn't get the side out and George Simons relieved him with four runs in, two men on and one man out. One of the runners got in.

The game rocked along until the eighth when Brasen, Italian third-sacker of the Pelicans, tied off on Simons. He hit one over the right field fence near the foul line to tie the score.

And so with Manager Eddie Moore and rookies, for the most part in the lineup, there was nothing left to do but call upon that old Bluebird spirit. The resolute rally in the ninth clinched matters. Paul Richards, who caught the full game, drove in Norman Dewese, who had singled, with

Joe Hutcheson's Power Is Big Aid To Crackers

Outfielder in Better Shape and Leading "Hit" Parade; Team Returns Sunday.

By Jack Troy.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., April 1.—As the champion Crackers finished their training season today and prepared for their departure early tomorrow to Lanett, Ala., there was every reason to believe that the power of big Joe Hutcheson will make the big difference in the club's attack this summer.

Big Joe really is the only long-distance hitter the Crackers have and he has come through in great style this spring.

The winning run. And just to make it safe, Manager Moore singled through the box to score Richards. Hutcheson had a big day at the bat. He got a homer and two singles in three times up. He was rapping the ball with the old time power.

Marshall Mauldin, Johnny Hill and Richards also got a couple of hits apiece. Today's victory made it four out of five over the Pelicans. The Crackers will attempt to do the same thing each time they meet the New Orleans Pelicans in the regular season.

Leonard To Pitch Here Sunday.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., April 1.—O. E. Robinson, the schoolboy pitcher from Mars Hill, N. C., and John Marsh, recruit shortstop from Chicago, will be left here with the Panama City club when the Crackers squad breaks camp and leaves for Lanett, Ala., tomorrow morning.

The five A pitchers and Tom Cefo, rookie catcher, have gone direct to Atlanta. The rest of the squad will square off against Lanett Saturday with Lawrence Miller and Oliver Spikes dividing the pitching. Dutch Leonard has been named to pitch against the House of David nine Sunday in Atlanta.

GUILFORD, PAGE PLAY FOR TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 1.—(AP) Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Chapel Hill, and Virginia Guilford, of Syracuse, N. Y., won their semi-final matches in the North and South golf tournament here today by defeating Mrs. Glenn Collett Vane, of Philadelphia, and Jean Bauer, of Providence, R. I., respectively, with identical scores, 4 and 3.

The veteran North Carolina Links-woman and the 19-year-old Syracuse University sophomore, who so far has been an upset maker in this tournament, will meet over the 18-hole route tomorrow for the title won last year by Deborah Verry, of Worcester, Mass., eliminated by Miss Bauer yesterday.

Mrs. Page, winner of the North and South two years ago, went three up on the first nine over Mrs. Vane, medalist in this event and winner of the national championship for six years, and was never threatened.

Mississippi Loses To Auburn, 6 to 1

AUBURN, Ala., April 1.—His fast-breaking curves, working to perfection, Sophomore Dick Swingle, Parrish, yielded only four singles, three in the second and one in the third, in pitching the Alabama Polytechnic Institute Tiger to a 6-1 win over the Mississippi College Choctaws here Thursday. The triumph was Auburn's second straight over the Delta State club.

put together rounds of 35-35, for a neat 70 and was tied for third position with Smiling Whiffy Cox, of Washington, D. C., and Lawson Little, of San Francisco, Cal., the former amateur champion of two continents who turned professional here a year ago.

The old "Joplin Ghost," lanky Horton Smith, from Chicago, and paired with Dudley as second choice at 10-1, fared badly in his attempt to romp through the third time. Horton scored an even par 36 on the outgoing nine, but went three over on the other side for a 75 and a five-way tie for 25th place.

MANERO NEAR TOP. Tom Manero, of Salem, Mass., the national open king, beat par, but Denny Shute, the P. G. A. titleholder, could not do better than a 74, two back of the card.

Bracketed in deadlock at 71 with Manero, and still within striking distance of the lead on the second 18 holes tomorrow, were Leonard Dodson, the curly-haired youngster from Springfield, Mo.; Jimmy Thomson, of Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, Pa.; Johnny Revoletto, of Chicago, a former P. G. A. champion, and Ray Mangrum, of Oklahoma, Pa.

Al Espinosa, the rotund rapper from Mexico City, and Vic Ghersi, the lanky Italian from Deal, N. J., equalled the card of 72.

JONES HAS CROWD. Bob Jones had the gallery today, as he has in the three previous tournaments, but the Atlanta business-golfing made his poorest opening day effort in the battle with the active professionals.

Of the three winners thus far, Sarazen, who tied Wood with his great "double eagle" a year ago and won a playoff was closest to the pace-setters. Smith, winner in 1934 and last year faced an uphill effort.

Paul Richards, of New York, led the amateurs with a 37-37-70. Charlie Yates, of Atlanta, former western and national intercollegiate champion, trailed him by a stroke, just one blow ahead of the London, England, expert, Captain Francis Francis.

HENRICH'S FATE LEFT TO LANDIS

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—(AP) Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, took under advisement today baseball player Tom Henrich's application to know what club he belongs to or whether he is a free agent.

Landis was closeted in his suite for three hours and a half today with Henrich, Henry Bendinger, president of the Milwaukee club; Lou Nahr, Milwaukee secretary; Alva Bradley, owner of the Cleveland Indians; C. Slapnicka, Cleveland general manager; Bill Bradley, Cleveland scout, and Larry Gilbert, manager of New Orleans.

They talked animatedly behind closed doors and when it was over Judge Landis said:

"I'm sorry, but I've nothing to say now."

He said he planned to leave by automobile late today for Chicago.

Henrich is the young outfielder, discovered by Scout Bill Bradley, who came to the New Orleans Pelicans from Zanesville. He played in New Orleans a part of 1935 and all of 1936 and was then sold, with Ralph Winegarner, to Milwaukee, of the American association, for $7,500.

A Tragedy of Golf.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—Bobby Jones came into the room two hours before his starting time in his fourth public appearance at the Masters' golf tournament since his grand slam of 1930.

He had finished twentieth in his first start in 1934—twenty-second in his second start in 1935, and thirty-third in his third journey a year ago. "At least," he said, smiling a trifle ruefully, "I can't do worse."

But in the first round of the Masters, under sunlit skies of southern blue, he finished in tie for forty-second place among a field of 46 starters, just 13 strokes away from a lanky Fort Worth (Texan) named Byron Nelson, who broke the course record with a 66.

The ghosts of golf haunt you with an incredible persistence. They are worse than bloodhounds on the chase. "If I can only get by the first three holes," Bob said, "I might do fairly well. They are the ones I dread." I watched him as he teed off, and across the room and you couldn't miss the tension in his system. After all, this was his tournament. He made it. His record made it as a golfer, a company and a sportsman. He wanted to play well here more than he ever wanted to play well in any championship he had ever tackled. If I can only get by the first three holes—"he said.

He had his par at the first. After a 280-yard tee shot, he had to struggle for his par at the second. And then the explosion—the avalanche—the earthquake came at the third. I could see the powder magazine of high tension forming at the second hole. Here was the great golfer of all time, winner of 12 national crowns, facing a snarled, tournament-tough field of opponents whose only thought was beating par. Not merely equalling it. To many of these, par was only a bogie, an old man's score.

I don't believe in sport I can recall a greater tragedy than the 250-yard third hole, a simple par 4—a drive and a short pitch. At this hole Jones hit a straight shot and reached the green on his second. His approach putt stopped four feet short. His second putt slipped 18 inches by the cup. He missed his third and there was a 6 with a four-putt green for the first time in his career, dating back to a boy of 12, 25 years ago.

Four putts—three putts from four feet over a flawless green carpet. I was standing with John Jackson, president of the U. S. G. A., when this took place. "I don't believe," he said to me, "I can stand this any longer. I feel as if someone had driven a knife into my heart."

I think everyone felt the same. Bobby Jones, with a putting stroke in the old days as smooth as a southern summer breeze, taking four putts and that was the beginning of the end. That led to 41 out of a total of 79. And Bob had to sink a ticklish four-footer to keep from getting an 80 for the first time in his tournament career, looking back to the days of a roly-poly kid.

With no other mat show of any kind being scheduled for Atlanta tonight, all interest is centered on a strong three-hour program at the North Side arena, where Promoters Roby and Bettis promise a fast, thrilling program.

John Mauldin, who held the light heavyweight championship of the south until a short time ago, who has always been a strong drawing card here, goes against the fast-stepping and tricky Chin Lee in what should be one of the features of the show. Lee, the Chinese grappler, has looked exceptionally good each time out and is all business in the ring. Mauldin is a villain and real crowd-baiter.

Equally attractive is the Young London-Sammy Miller bout. London only recently returned to this city, where he first took up wrestling, and has shown marked improvement, although he has been a star from the beginning. Miller, a veteran, is equally adept at rough and clever grappling.

Another former favorite who makes his first local appearance in some time is Don Rainey, Texas warrior, who takes on the dynamic Paddy Nolan in the opener at 8:20.

ENTRIES CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON FOR DOG SHOW

Atlanta Kennel Club Canine Exhibition Slated April 9 and 10.

Local dog fanciers who expect to exhibit dogs at the Atlanta Kennel Club Dog Show on April 9 and 10 must register their entries sometime today with the superintendent of the show, according to Vernon Brown, chairman of the dog show committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The show is being conducted under American Kennel Club rules and the club has set today as the absolute deadline for entries.

Interest in the show has been mounting every day and the list of entries is not only one of the largest in the history of Atlanta shows, but it offers a great variety of breeds and classes.

Entries are classified into six general groups. Group one, the sporting dogs, includes: Pointers, setters, spaniels, Griffons, retrievers. Group two includes the various hounds. Group three is the classification of the "working dogs" and includes such breeds as Boxers, Doberman, Pinschers, German shepherds, St. Bernards, and many others. Into group four goes the many types of terriers; group five covers the toys and group six the non-sporting dogs—chows, poodles, etc.

Entries for each of these six groups are plentiful and Atlanta fans will have an opportunity to see one of the best displays of thoroughbreds ever exhibited here.

Wilkerson Winner In National Boxing

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 1.—(AP) Jim Mace, stocky little ringman from University of San Francisco, moved into the semi-finals of the national collegiate boxing championships tonight with a three-round decision over Carlye Lovend, of North Dakota, in the opening bout. It was a 115-pound division fight.

Dropping his rival for a nine count in the opening session, Ben Alperstein, of Maryland, took a decision from Joe Brocato, of Tulane, in the 135-pound class.

The knockdown proved the margin of victory. Alperstein was noticeably tired and on the retreat in the last frame, with Brocato ripping in telling punches to the body and nailing his opponent with rights to the jaw. Brocato was puzzled by Alperstein's south-paw style in the early part.

Steve Wilkerson, of the University of Mississippi, 1937 Southeastern conference 135-pound titleholder, pounded into the semi-finals with a conclusive decision over All Mann, of Duke.

Mann, Southern conference champion two years ago, was game and aggressive but outclassed.

TARPLEY WINNER.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 1.—(AP) Horatio Velha, 150, of Portugal, out-pointed Miguel Mexico, 148 1-2, of Mexico, in a 10-round tonight of international flavor. Pete Tarpley, 135 1-2, of Atlanta, hammered out an eight-round decision over Snag Trowbridge, 136, of West Palm Beach.

FLASHES—From Baseball Camps

BARONS. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 1.—(AP) The Baron regular squad started off a game with the Yannisians today by scoring two runs. The second-string scored two in the second. The Regulars won their second game today, they chalked up in the sixth, to make the total 4-2. The Regulars got seven hits, the Yannisians six. Coombs and Jones caught on the mound for the Regulars, Jones and Raymond for the Scrubs.

RED SOX. SARASOTA, Fla., April 1.—(AP) Wesley Ferrell, the Red Sox star right-hander, bested Bob (Lefty) Grove today when Manager Joe Cronin's Regulars overwhelmed the Scrubs, 12-3, in a six-inning practice game.

Grove, who worked five of the innings, held the side until the Regulars piled on him for three runs.

TRAVELERS. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 1.—(AP) Aided by warm weather, the Little Rock Travelers went through a lengthy batting drill today.

Manager Doc Frothingham said his charges would renew their intracamp games tomorrow. The Travelers play their first exhibition game of the season next Wednesday with the Philadelphia Athletics.

CUYLER IS INJURED. LAKELAND, Fla., April 1.—(AP) Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, who at 37 is the oldest player on the Cincinnati Reds' roster, suffered a fracture of the left cheek bone today during an exhibition game with Detroit which the Tigers won, 4 to 2.

Cuyler collided with Second Baseman Alex Kampouris just as the latter caught a fly in short center field hit by Detroit's second baseman, Charley Gehring, in the sixth inning. Cuyler was removed to a hospital.

Detroit won the game when Rookie York went in as a pinch-hitter in the ninth inning and hit a home run with Owen on base.

CARDS WIN. CLEARWATER, Fla., April 1.—(AP) Paul Dean returned to top pitching form today as he and St. Johnson combined to shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers with three hits. The St. Louis Cardinals gathered 12 hits to win, 7 to 0.

Johnny Mize, Cardinal first baseman, led the Redbirds' attack with a home run, a double and a single.

LOOKOUTS WIN. SANFORD, Fla., April 1.—(AP) Washington bowed to the Chattanooga Lookouts today, the Senator's farmhands came from behind to win, 5 to 4, in the ninth inning, much to the grief of spectators.

Linkins, who relieved Newsom in the sixth, rifled out a home run to tie the score in the ninth, but then let the minor leaguers get to him for the winning tally a few minutes later.

TIME IS NOT YET RIPE FOR NEW ARMS PARLEY, SAYS DAVIS, IN LONDON

Spanish War Tension Held to Be Creating Antagonistic State of Mind.

LONDON, April 1.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis, America's ambassador at large, said tonight he will discuss world economic and peace co-operation with British statesmen, but that the time is not yet ripe for an international disarmament conference.

Tension created by the Spanish Civil War and widespread suspicion in the European mind made disarmament impracticable now, he asserted.

His disavowal of any United States intention to propose an armament conference now, coincided with that of Secretary of State Hull in Washington.

And it came, too, after general reaction in European capitals against such a conference at this time, a stepping up of Franco-British aerial armaments; and new efforts by those two nations to settle the question of foreign volunteers in Spain.

An apparent softening of the Italian-German attitude inspired France and Britain to urge again that non-Spanish fighters be withdrawn from the Spanish Civil War.

A French foreign office spokesman avowed that the government "is more optimistic that the Spanish war will not entangle Europe than at any time since the war began."

An effective neutrality control scheme will be in operation within 10 days, both French and British sources predicted. Some observers thought the new effort to get foreign fighters out of Spain was inspired by reports of dissension and revolt against Italian fighting in the insurgent army.

Davis noted a slight relaxation in the Spanish tension and added his view that the Civil War had "a sobering influence" on all Europe.

Here for the International Sugar conference opening Monday, Davis said he intended to discuss all matters pertaining to key points in American foreign policy: Economic co-operation, peace, disarmament.

DR. GEORGE BUTTRICK SCORES MODERN ISMS

Religious Conference Speaker Challenges Rallying of Loyalties.

ATHENS, Ga., April 1.—"Our modern world is suffering from locomotor-ataxia," Dr. George Buttrick told the annual religious welfare conference here today in his second address, "Our Conflict of Modern Loyalties," comparing present international trends with a human body, each member of which chose to live its own life in "a free world" dodging all responsibility for the condition of the others.

Dr. Buttrick spoke tonight on "Why We Are Christians." He declared that modernism is building up a "dreary deification of the average" and that it practices violence which "degrades the victims to the rank of cattle and the victor to the rank of a callous butcher of cattle."

Dr. Buttrick challenged the world to seek "some overarching loyalty to gather all our lesser loyalties beneath its wings."

Supporting the neutrality policy of the United States, Dr. Buttrick reminded his audience that Americans should not believe that they are isolated. "For," he declared, "the whole world is one body. . . . We ought to forget our inherited old-world antipathies, but the stock market, and therefore our whole national life, will fluctuate with the tides of battle across the seas. Credits are affected, friendships impaired, and ocean liners (as well as high ideals) must delay their sailings. For whether we like the fact or not, we are 'members one of another.' . . . We in America must be loyal to the land we love, but the fact of all humanity is deeper than any nationalism; it antedates nationalism, which is a comparative newcomer, and will outlast and outlive it."

LOUISE THADEN WINS AIR TROPHY

Award Made to Outstanding Woman Flyer of Past Year.

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Louise Thaden, who last year won the Bendix transcontinental air race in competition with many crack men flyers, today was awarded the Harmon trophy as the outstanding woman flyer of 1936.

The presentation ceremonies were held at a luncheon of the Advertising Club on Park avenue. Presentation of the trophy—a two-foot, winged, bronze figure—was made by H. B. LeQuatte, club president, who received it from Colonel Charles Wayne Kerwood, representative of the Ligue Internationale de Aviation.

"I can't accept this trophy for myself only," said Mrs. Thaden. "Many people labored on the plane in order to make the race possible."

Mrs. Thaden's time in the race from New York to Los Angeles was 14 hours and 55 minutes. Wichita, Kans., where she is connected with an aircraft corporation in seven hours.

President Roosevelt sent congratulations to Mrs. Thaden through a telegram from his secretary, Marvin McIntyre.

SCARBOROUGH RETURNS TO GANG IN CHEROKEE

Fugitive Killer Recaptured in Indiana, Warden Reveals.

CANTON, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—The zig-zag flight of S. J. (Slim) Scarborough, convicted slayer, ended today where it began February 8—on the Cherokee county chain gang.

Scarborough, serving a life sentence for slaying W. O. Wright, Putnam county school superintendent in 1925, leaped on the running board of a motor car here last February as he and other convicts worked on a highway.

Today he was brought back to the gang by Warden Jay Haney. He had been captured in Hobart, Indiana, March 27.

Haney announced the recapture on his return here this morning. The warden said Scarborough told Hobart police that "two Spaniards" were driving the car, but Haney said today he believed Forrest Turner, now under arrest in Atlanta, had aided Scarborough's flight.

Turner was arrested recently after shooting a guard while he was being taken to south Georgia.

Haney's statement told of Scarborough's purported travels through the southeast before he headed north for Detroit, Chicago and Hobart. It said he went from Canton to Tampa, thence to Zephyr Hill, Fla., then to Gainesville, Ga., Atlanta, Omaha, Ga., and Tampa again before going to Detroit.

Scarborough and two other men, T. L. Coggeshall, of Clayton, Ill., and F. W. McClelland, Ocala, Fla., were convicted in 1925 of slaying W. O. Wright, superintendent of the Putnam county (Eatonton) public schools. Wright had given a ride to the three men, who were hitch-hiking from Tampa to Illinois. Wright disappeared. His body was found in the woods near Eatonton a few days later. The three men were arrested the following day near Danielsville, Ga. Scarborough turned state's evidence; the other two were executed; Scarborough got life.

Scarborough's recent escape was his third.

SCARBOROUGH REPORTED TRAPPED BY WOMAN

HOBART, Ind., April 1.—(AP)—Police Chief Frank Traeger said today S. J. (Slim) Scarborough, fugitive from a Georgia chain gang, was captured here March 27 on information given by a woman who had accompanied Scarborough and his brother, Ben, here from Florida.

Traeger said a trap was set for Scarborough and he came to a meeting place arranged by the woman and was captured without resistance. The police chief declined to give the woman's name.

Traeger said Ben Scarborough is also being sought as a fugitive from Florida.

THREE ARE RECAPTURED AFTER EGYPT ESCAPE

EGYPT, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—Three convicts who escaped from an Effing, Ga., county road gang yesterday were recaptured today near Springfield.

Captain Sexton, warden, identified the men as Bill Byrd, of Atlanta, Willie Adkins, of Thompson and Joe Motte, an Italian.

All three were wearing double shackles when they fled the state road gang which was working on the highway.

INGRAM AND PITTMAN WILL NOT SEEK BENCH

John C. Mitchell, Dalton, Now Only Qualified Candidate for Judgeship.

DALTON, Ga., April 1.—William A. Ingram, appointed Cherokee superior court judge by former Governor Talmadge but since restrained by the state supreme court from serving, today announced he will not be a candidate in the special election called for May 5.

Judge Claude C. Pittman, now holding the office, who obtained the restraining order on constitutional grounds, today announced he also will not be a candidate.

At present, only John C. Mitchell, of Dalton, former solicitor general of the circuit, has posted the required $400 fee. Entries will close at noon Saturday.

The Whitfield county executive committee, meeting today, adopted a resolution calling upon the state committee to declare Mitchell elected if no other candidate qualifies.

Dealers in Doubt On Cigaret Prices

CORDELE, Ga., April 1.—Cordele merchants were in a quandary today about just how much to charge for cigarettes.

Some declared the only notice they had received of a tax increase was what they had read in the newspapers, which they asserted "could not be considered legal."

This morning two of the four leading drug stores were selling cigarettes at the standard prices, while the other two stated they would take no chances with the law and were selling standard brands at 18 cents. Nor had any of the wholesalers here received any stamps or official notice of increase.

COTTON BRINGS 15c IN SCREVEN COUNTY

SYLVANIA, Ga., April 1.—Cotton sold in Sylvania this week for 15 cents a pound, the highest price paid on the local market since 1929.

This was for a middling bale of cotton grown by W. R. Rountree, farmer, and purchased by the firm of J. A. & A. S. Mills, cotton merchants and ginners, who operate throughout Screven county.

BATTLE OF RECORDERS LOOMS IN GAINESVILLE

Two Men Named, Qualified and Ready To Assume Court Duties.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 1.—Possibility of litigation arising over the rightful occupant to the post of city recorder of Gainesville looms with the election of two men to the post, each ready to assume his duties.

The mixup came about thus: The city commission, at a special meeting Monday, named H. V. Johnson as recorder in the place of W. P. Wheelchel, resigned. Wheelchel was elected city attorney.

Yesterday, at another called meeting, F. L. Brewer was elected by the commissioners as recorder. Johnson not having qualified at the time. Later in the day he took the oath and qualified, and asserted he had been duly elected, had qualified, and expected to serve.

Brewer said he was notified yesterday of his appointment, qualified this

Baboon, Kangaroo Share Same Cage

MACON, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—A baby baboon and a young kangaroo are living happily together in the same cage in the Downie Brothers circus in winter quarters here.

"That's the first time two animals of this type have been put together," said Keeper Edward Dogherty, former Ringling trainer.

The baboon isn't popular with other animals of the circus, but the kangaroo is treated like a pal.

INSURANCE FIRM WINS IN TORNADO-FIRE SUIT

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—The first of numerous suits filed here to collect fire damages following last year's death-dealing tornado has been decided in favor of the defendant fire insurance company.

A jury yesterday turned down the claim of Arthur E. Smith for $2,255.66 damages against the Aetna Insurance Company.

It was the first of 23 similar suits on the current court calendar.

The suits are based on a clause which voids the policies if all or part of the buildings insured fall prior to a fire.

COX DEFENDS VIEW ON COURT REFORMS

Carlisle 'Not the Keeper of My Conscience,' He Says of Critic.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Representative E. E. Cox, Camilla, Ga., Democrat, threatened with opposition in the 1938 primary, refused today to withdraw his attack on President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan.

Judge Ira Carlisle, of Cairo, Ga., announced he would oppose Cox for the nomination unless the representative changed his position on the court bill.

Answering the Cairo man, Cox said "Mr. Carlisle is a good man and my friend, but he is not the keeper of my conscience and will not be permitted to do my thinking or my voting."

"I am responsible to the people of my district, whose interests I am doing my best to serve, and at proper time I will render account of my stewardship to them. It may not be important that I continue in congress but it is important that I do what I believe to be right while here, and without regard to effect upon my political fortune."

Cox is a leader of a house bloc opposing the plan to reorganize the supreme court.
